WHAT OUR COUNCILMEN DID

A Busy Session of Borough Dads Was That on Monday Evening.

WHO TAMPERED WITH THE PETITION?

A Written Request for a New Crossing on Spring Street had a Clause Inserted After the Signatures Had Been Affixed.

Council convened in regular session on Monday evening with President Brockerhoff and Members Kellar, Shaffer, Valentine, Williams, Lowery, Brackbill and Gerberich in attendance

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Clerk Mitchell and approved as read.

G. W. Port appeared and asked that Armor street be extended to East Howard street.

A petition was then read to the Council asking that the crossing between the properties of D. G. Garman and T. R. Reynolds on Spring street, be relaid and that one of brick be put down.

The Street committee, through Chairman Williams, reported that East Linn street had been raised to the grade given one year ago. The holes and ruts in the street have been filled and that it is now in good condition. Work is in progress on the grade on Reynolds avenue. Nothing has been done on Beaver street, Kirk's alley and the intended change in the crossing in that vicinity. These repairs will, however, be made in the near future.

The Water committee, through Mr. Brackbill, reported that owing to making the grade on Reynolds avenue the water pipes are brought very near the surface of the ground. The committee recommended that the pipe be lowered. A meeting of the Water committee was held at the office of the chairman, C. T Gerberich, on May 26, and made out a report, which was read before the Council, relative to the water rates. With the exception of a slight advance on the rate for livery stables, the rates are practically the same as those of 1895. The committee also reported that an effort was being made to clean up the alleys and streets. The committee stated that they had considered the application of citizens of Howard street asking for a crossing on Allegheny between the Curtin and Zeller properties, and decided to grant their request. In regard to the application of the citizens for a new crossing between Achenbach's bakery and Parrish's drug store, the committee decided that a new crossing was not necessary, and all that was needed was that it be repaired. The committee further stated that they were unable to make a report on the work on Armor street and asked that they be allowed to defer their report until the next meeting.

The Market committee reported $2.70 collected from Market Clerk Thomas Shaughensy.

The Nuisance committee, through Mr. Shaffer, reported that the nuisance complained of on the McCoy hill had been investigated and nothing objectionable found.

The Village Improvement committee, through the chairman, Mr. Valentine, reported progress. Mr. Brackbill stated that a member of the Village Improvement Society had asked him to obtain permission of the Council to have the use of the hose of the Fire companies to wash out the sewers of the city once a month.

The special committee appointed to investigate the Borough line difficulty, reported that after running the South line of the Borough on surface measure to see whether the difference could be accounted for, it was found that the lines came together within a few feet, and that it was not necessary to make a change.

The matter of the request of Mr. Port was referred to the Street committee for examination and to report result of same at the next meeting.

Mr. Mitchell stated that the Borough deficit for last year was $11,146.84, and for this year $11,988.39.

President Brockerhoff said that the special committee should give the matter of Borough lines careful attention, as it may determine whether or not some families are living in the Borough, which at present is in doubt.

An aye and nay vote was taken on the report of the Water committee on water rates and resulted in the report being accepted.

The report of the Street committee on the crossings on Allegheny street was accepted.

In regard to the request of the Village Improvement Society for the use of the Fire Company hose, the matter was left in the hands of Mr. Brachbill and will be properly attended to.

No action was taken on the petition for a crossing between the properties of the T. R. Reynolds estate and that of D. G. Garman, as it was the belief of the Council that the petition had been tampered with and a clause inserted after the signatures of the petitioners had been affixed.

After approving the following bills and moving that orders be drawn for their payment, Council adjourned:

G. A. R. Encampment.

Chambersburg, Pa., June 2.—There are at least 2,500 to 3,000 visitors here to attend the Grand Army of the republic encampment and every train is bringing in hundreds more, the Pittsburg and Western delegations getting in this evening on three sections. The fight over commander has brought many wire pullers for each candidate. The Darte people claim to have the convention beyond all question, while the Dentworth men, who are no sanguine, nevertheless say that their leaders will win. The convention begins in session to-morrow after the parade and the election will take place on Thursday.

The Darte people are making a big show placing their badges on every one who will wear them and their large placarps are visible on every public conveyance upon the street. All the state officials are here and ready for the business sessions. Governor Hastings telegraphed that owing to business pressure he would not be able to be here to-morrow. To-night General O. Howard delivered a lecture on Gettysburg in the opera house.

The Ladies Circle convened in session this morning and were welcomed by O. C. Bowers. The president Mrs Marie Ely, responded. The woman's relief corps also met this morning and was welcomed by Senator Brewer. Mr. Lindsay presented Mrs. Wilbur, the president on behalf of the department with a beautiful star studded with eight diamonds, and Mrs. Speakman on behalf of the staff officers, presented the same official with a ring set with an opal.

A meeting of the Pennsylvania Memorial home association was held this afternoon and was presided over by Mrs. Helen Morrison, of Brookville. This association has done excellent work in finding homes for children. Nearly $39,000 were given them by the corps and private individuals and they hope now to raise sufficient to wipe out the remaining $8,000 of debt.

This evening the woman's relief corps gave a reception in Hoosem post rooms to the visiting delegates.

CUSTOMER—I want a remedy for catarrh.
DRUG CLERK—All right, sir. Here's a blood tonic that is advertised to build up the constitution.
CUSTOMER—Young man, do you think I'm going to dose myself with a blood tonic for months, just on the chance of it doing me some good? Not much! I want immediate relief; besides, catarrh is a local affection, and no tonic or blood purifier ever made, can cure it. Here's 50 cents. Let me have Ely's Cream Balm It's the only thing I know of to cure an attack of catarrh.

"MICK" RICHARDS IN JAIL

ALMOST CAUSED A COLLISION

Removed a Brake Chain From a Car and Thus Obstructed the Main Line and Endangered the Lives of Many Passengers.

W. F. alias "Mick" Richards of Port Matilda was arrested and brought to Bellefonte and lodged in jail on Tuesday, charged with larceny and maliciously attempting to wreck a train on the Bald Eagle Valley Branch of the Pennsylvania railroad at Hannah Siding several weeks ago. Richards was granted a hearing and was afterwards taken to jail to await trial at the next term of court.

The defendant is accused of stealing a number of hand-holds used on box car doors, one brake wheel, a metal step, nuts and washers, drawhead springs, number of iron rods and two brake chains Richards' sons are also accused of being participators in the theft.

The most serious part of the charge is that of maliciously removing a brake chain from a car at Hannah Siding and obstructing the main line, thus endangering the lives and property on an approaching train. As it was, an appalling collision was narrowly averted.

When taken to jail Richards was sulky and at first refused to tell his age. He afterwards said he was 33 years old. His offense is a serious one and is punishable by a term in the penitentiary.

Minnesota Editors Meet.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 2.—Some time ago the Penny Press, the only silver paper in the Twin cities, issued a call to the editors of Minnesota to meet in convention in this city on June 2. As a result of the call fifty editors were on hand when the meeting was called to order this morning. Free silver republican editors were chiefly in evidence, although there were representatives of all parties. As a result of the meeting an organization to be known as the Reform Press Association of Minnesota was formed The object of the organization will be co-operation in securing reform and free silver literature and an energetic campaign for the free silver cause.

The Tenth Anniversary.

Washington, June 2.—This is the tenth anniversary of the marriage of the president and Mrs. Cleveland. They did not celebrate the occasion and spent the day quietly, the president at the white house and Mrs. Cleveland at Woodley. In the afternoon Mrs. Cleveland came into town and drove back to the country with the president.

Rev. Byron Sunderland, who performed the marriage ceremony for the president and his wife, remembered the occasion today and called at the white house to pay his respects.

Phenomenal Cast of Pig Iron.

Sharon, Pa., June 2.—The Mabel furnace at Sharpsville, owned by Mark Hanna of Cleveland and Simon Perkins of this city, made a phenomenal cast of pig iron last Sunday which beat the world's record. The iron weighed 252 2-3 tons. The average daily output for the past month has been 220 tons.

His Ox Is Gored.

London, June 2.—The Morning Post will to-morrow publish a dispatch from Madrid saying that Senor De Lome, the Spanish minister, has protested to the American governor against the parading of the Cuban flag in a procession in New Yorkton May 31.

Will Play on Saturday.

What will prove an interesting game of base ball will be that played on Saturday between the Bellefonte and Boalsburg Academy teams. Both sides will be pretty evenly matched and a close and exciting contest may be looked for. The game will be played at Hunters park and will probably draw a large crowd.

Always in season, Hopkins' Steamed Hominy (Hulled Corn). Elegant lunch in milk 10 cents a can.

Two Negroes Lynched.

Columbus, Ga., June 1.—Two negroes were hung to a tree in the middle of Broad Street, the main business thoroughfare of this city, and riddled with bullets by an infuriated mob at 10 o'clock this morning. They were Jesse Slayton and Will Miles.

Last Thursday Slayton outraged Mrs. Howard Bryan, a respectable white lady of this county. He was captured that day and placed in jail before the crowd looking for him found him. This morning he was carried to the superior court room for trial. He had been indicted and a jury was empanelled, when a mob rushed up the stairs into the court room, yelling and brandishing rifles and pistols, seized the terrified man, threw a rope around his neck and dragged him a hundred yards down Broad Street, riddling his body with bullets at every step. The body was then swung up to a tree and left dangling there

The crowd then went to the jail after Will Miles, another negro, who in the night time, about two years ago, attempted an outrage on Mrs. Albright, a lady of this city. The jailor pleaded with the mob, but to no avail, and was compelled to surrender Miles to save his life and the jail from destruction. He surrendered the keys and the doomed man was led to where the body of Slayton dangled.

Miles was quickly strung up and his body riddled with a hundred bullets. Miles had been tried and convicted twice and his case had been twice sent back by the supreme court on technicalities for a new trial. His last trial resulted in a mistrial and he was in jail awaiting his fourth trial.

Inflicted Awful Torture

Johnstown, Pa., June 3.—At an early hour this morning two unknown fiends broke into the residence of Mr. and Mrs. David Berkley, an aged couple who reside near Rummel post office, Somerset county, about ten miles from this city to rob them. The couple are almost 80 years of age and live alone with one daughter, and were considered to be wealthy, having, it is stated received a large sum of money lately from the sale of large coal lands.

The first act of the plunderers was to enter the room occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Berkley and tie them to the bed and demand their money. Mr. Berkley refused to give them anything when they immediately applied the flames of lamps to their feet burning them horribly. They then took a knife and cut Mr. Berkley's lips in slits, threatening to kill both him and his wife if they would not deliver up their money. Mr. Berkley told them they could find $128 in cash all the money in the house, but they were not satisfied and continued their atrocities, further mutilating Mr. Berkley's face. Miss Lucy Berkley, the daughter who was sleeping upstairs, and hearing the cries attempted to come to the assistance of her parents, but the robbers repulsed her, and when she attempted to decend to the ground from a porch on the outside she fell a distance of 20 feet, and broke her leg and received other injuries so that she could not move

The robbers left securing no other booty and thinking that Miss Berkley had gone to give an alarm, but as there were no other houses near no alarm was given until several hours after, when Mr. Berkley succeeded in freeing himself. A posse started after a bandits an hour later, but they made their escape by stealing two horses from William Horner's stable and riding to the mountains. Two strangers took supper with Mr. and Mrs. Berkley and they are thought to be the one's who committed the fiendish act. The condition of both Mr. and Mrs. Berkley is critical.

"Mr. Insite, give the class your idea of optimist and pessimist." "Yes, sir. An optimist is a man who is happy when he's miserable, and a pessimist is a man who is miserable when he's happy.—Chicago Record.

Professor of Music—"How are you coming on, old friend? Are you still giving French lessons?" Professor of languages—"Yes, I give French lessons when I've got nothing else to do." "How does it pay?" "I have different prices for the lessons. For some I charge 50 cents a lesson and for others $5 a lesson. Five dollars a lesson! That is a steep price for a French lesson." "Yes but nobody takes any of those $5 lessons."—Texas Siftings.

BIG FIRE AT POTTERS MILLS

A Tannery and Bark Barn Completely Destroyed This Morning.

CAUSED BY A SPARK FROM AN ENGINE

The Loss Will Reach $5,000 With $3,800 Insurance.—The Flames Spread Fast and Fierce and Left Complete Ruin in Their Wake.

A disastrous fire was that at Potter's Mills this morning, which destroyed a large tannery and a bark storage building. Both structures were burned to the ground.

The fire broke out about 2 o'clock and at no time were the flames even under control. They simply burned on unchecked until there was nothing more to burn and all that is now left to mark what was yesterday a bee hive of industry is a heap of smouldering ruins.

It is thought the fire was started by a spark from the steam engine with which the tannery was operated. No other cause can be assigned unless it was the work of incendiaries, and the latter theory is of little weight.

The flames spread with a fierceness that caused considerable anxiety to those who owned adjoining buildings. The whole neighborhood was brilliantly illuminated by the glare of the burning bark and people for miles around were attracted to the scene of the conflagration. There was so much inflammable material stored in the buildings that the flames gained such a headway before they were discovered that it was almost useless to do anything but protect the nearby properties.

The tannery was occupied and operated by J. W. Smith. The loss will reach $5,000, with $3,800 insurance. It is not known at this writing whether or not the buildings will be rebuilt.

Very Bold Robbers.

Huntingdon, Pa., June 3.—Three masked men committed a robbery early this morning near Ennisville this county, in true Western desperado style. They forced an entrance into the home of the Misses Porter, three maiden ladies, and accomplished their ends in a way that smacks strongly of the Jesse James and the Dalton brothers system.

When inside the house they entered the bedroom occupied by the sisters and immediately made a demand for money. They were given the contents of a missionary box without protest and told that was all there was about. This was not satisfactory, and while one of the men covered the women with a revolver the other two ransacked the house.

Failure to secure more money angered the trio, and procuring all the wearing apparel belonging to the sisters, they saturated it with oil and threatened to apply a lighted match unless given more money. The sisters begged them to desist, saying they had already got all the available cash that was in the house, but they were merciless and bent upon extorting money by resorting to any means, no matter how foul, and lighted match was applied to the clothes. This did not seem to have the desired effect, and becoming frightened at their own work the robbers extinguished the small flames.

Before leaving the premises they stole a horse and carriage. At the stable of William Fagan, only a short distance away, another horse was stolen and a third horse was taken from a stable on a tract of land where a saw-mill is operated.

The robbers have been traced to Petersburg and a determined effort is being made to apprehend them.

OVER CLEVELAND'S VETO.

The House Passes the River and Harbor Bill—A Democrat Unseated.

Washington, June 2.—The house devoted itself to-day to passing the river and harbor bill over the president's veto and to unseating, by a vote of 162 to 39, John J. Walsh, the Democratic member from the Eighth New York district, whose place will be filled bp John Murray Mitchell, Republican. Both of the actions were foregone conclusions and they excited very little interest, although there was a full house to vote on the river and harbor bill. It was passed by 220 to 60, many more votes than the two-thirds necessary to overrule a veto, and it was passed without debate, although Mr. Dockery (Mo.) protested vehemently that debate had been promised. Thirty nine Democrats voted to override the president's veto and 26 Republicans stood by Mr. Cleveland. The naval appropriation bill was reported from conference with an agreement on all items but the number of battleships. Incidentally Chairmon Cannon, of the committee on appropriations, predicted that congress will adjourn late next week.

The Democrats who voted to pass the river and harbor bill over the veto were Bankhead, Ala.; Berry, Ky.; Buck, La.; Catchings, Miss.; Clarke, Ala.; Cobb, Mo.; Cooper, Fla.; Cooper, Tex.; Culberson, Tex.; Cummings, N. Y.; Denny Miss.; Dinsmore, Ark.; Ellet, Va.; Elliott, S. C.; Fitzgerald, Mass.; Kendall, Ky.; Kyle, Miss.; Latimer, S. C; Lester, Ga.; Little, Ark; McCulloch, Ark.; McMillin, Tenn.; McRae, Ark.; Meyer, La.; Money, Miss.; Ogden, La; Owens, Ky.; Price, [illegible]; Robertson, La; Sparkman, Fla.; Strait, S. C.; Talbert, S. C.; Terry, Ark.; Turner, Ga.; Tyler, Va.; Underwood, Ala.; Washington, Tenn; Williams, Miss.; Wilson, S. C. Total, 39

The Republicans who voted against passing the bill over the veto were: Allen, Vt.; Anderson, Tenn.; Andrews, Neb.; Baker, N. H.; Brown, Tenn.; Calderhead, Kas; Connolly, Ill.; Grout, Vt.; Hager, Ia.; Hainer, Neb.; Hepburn, Ia.; Leighty, Ind.; Liney, N. C.; Long, Kas.; McCall, Tenn.; McClure, O.; McEwan, N. J.; Pearson, N. C.; Pitney, N. J.; Scranton, Pa.; Settle, N. C.; Shafroth, Col.; Sherman, N. Y.; Strode, Neb.; Tracewell, Ind.; Updegraff, Ia. Total, 26.

Now They are Married

Washington, June 2.—At 8 o'clock this evening at the New York Avenue Presbyterian church, the wedding of Miss Julia Stevenson, daughter of the vice president of the United States, to the Rev. Dr. Martin D. Hardin, of Danville Ky., was solemnized by Rev. Dr. Radcliff, pastor of the church, in the presence, of a company including the president of the United States and Mrs. Cleveland, the members of the cabinet and Judges of the Supreme court of the United States; the diplomatic corps and many others prominent in official and social circles in the capital.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the hotel Normandie and at 10.30 p. m. Mr. and Mrs. Hardin departed for their home at Bowling Green, Ky. The wedding ceremony was one of the least ostentatious of any of the many that have happened in prominent Washington circles for many years.

Miss Willard Heartily Received

London, June 2.—Queen's hall, London, was crowded last evening with an enthusiastic audience upon the occasion of the opening of the twentieth annual council of the British Women's Temperance association. Agnes Weston presided and in a short address extended a hearty welcome to Miss Francis Willard, president of the World's Woman's Christian Temperance union, who was loudly cheered when she appeared on the platform. Miss Willard delivered a brief address in which she declared that the growth of temperance and and the Christian Gospel were concurrent.

Thirty Gold Hunters Probably Lost

San Francisco, June 2.—The schooner Albion brings news of the probable loss of the schooner Lincoln in Alasan waters. The Lincoln had on board about thirty persons, all of whom have undoubtedly lost their lives. Most of the passengers were gold seekers.

Commencement Exercises.

The thirteenth annual commencement exercises of the Bellefonte High School were held in Garman's Opera House on Thursday afternoon and evening. The spacious building was well filled at both exercises and of the hundreds of spectators that thronged the Opera House, both in the afternoon and evening, there was not one but who was immensely pleased and well repaid for their time and presence.

It seems almost impossible to hold a High School Commencemen without it being ushered in or treated during the day with a heavy rain. Thursday was no exception and early in the morning a drizzling rain set in which continued until almost noon. At that hour the clouds cleared away and old Sol came out in all his glory bringing joy to the hearts of the fair graduates, their parents and friends.

The exercises for the afternoon were announced to start at 2.30 o'clock, but long before that hour the guests had commenced to arrive, and soon both auditorium and gallery were filled with anxious parents, hopeful friends and merry school children.

The interior of the Opera House was appropriately decorated for the occasion. Twining down the sides of the stage were the Class colors, red and black, while across the top were those of the school, red and white. Suspended from the centre of an overhanging arch in the front of the stage was a banner bearing the Class motto, a passe ad esse '96. On either side of the stage were beautiful palms, potted plants and cut flowers in profusion.

When the curtain went up it disclosed a picture beautiful in every respect, but necessary to be seen to be appreciated. On the left of the stage facing the audience were the members of the graduating class, eleven in number. They were seated in a semi circle and looked supremely happy. On the face of each one was a look, not of anxiety or fear, but of determination, which inspired the audience with confidence. On the right of the stage were Prof. A. Ammerman, Prof. A. R. Rutt, Miss Ella Levy, Rev. J. W. Rue, Supt. D. O. Etters, D. F. Fortney, William B. Rankin, Isaac Underwood and Superintendent of Public instruction, Hon. N. C. Schaeffer.

The exercises were commenced with a beautiful selection by the Keystone Orchestra. The following program was then presented:

AFTERNOON.

Overture, Keystone Orchestra.
Invocation.
Music, Orchestra
Salutary and Essay—Nature's Harmony, Elizabeth B. Orris.
Oration—Duties of Educated Men, Thomas B. Hamilton.
Essay—The Tottering Throne, Mary F. Lambert.
Music, Orchestra.
Essay—A Noted Family, Katherine Benner.
Oration—Is Thirteen an Unlucky Number? J. Willis Knox.
Essay—The Empire of Pennsylvania, Freda Baum.
Music, Orchestra.
Essay—The Influence of Music, L. Myrtle Louacre.
Oration—The Land of Possibility, Will's A. Ishler.
Essay—Is Life Worth Living? Mable Fauble.
Music, Orchestra.
Oration—Garfield, James G. Wright.
Essay—On the Threshold, and Valedictory, A. Blanche Underwood.
Music.

It took over three hours to complete the above, but no one objected to that as the exercises were so interesting that the time seemed to fairly fly.

Special mention of those who delivered their graduating themes is deserved by every member of the class. The subjects chosen were appropriate, interesting and instructive, and the manner in which they were handled showed that they had been carefully prepared. It was with a pang of regret that the immense audience heard the last strains of the orchestra at the conclusion of the program for the afternoon and many were loth to leave. The graduates were simply overwhelmed with the congratulations and best wishes of their many friends, who waited and swooped down upon them before they could escape from the Opera House.

IN THE EVENING.

The exercises for the evening commenced at 7.45 o'clock with the Opera House again crowded. After a few selections by the orchestra, Hon. N. C. Schaeffer was introduced to deliver the Commencement address. Supt. Schaeffer is a clear and forcible speaker and his practical talk to the graduating class and the parents of the school children abounded in many splendid thoughts. He lamented the fact that the Pennsylvania public school system was not as perfect as it should be, and said that he hoped that before the arrival of the 20th century Pennsylvania would have a system of public instruction that would be perfect in every respect. He, turning to the graduating class, congratulated them upon their successfully reaching the goal in the High School course. He deeply regretted, he said, to see so few boys in the class as compared to the large number of girls.

Mr. Schaeffer told how the young women had begged to be admitted to the University of Michigan and how they were told that they couldn't stand the work of the collegiate course. One of the champions of the young ladies' cause replied in their defense: "Take a young man and put a No. 1 shoe on a No. 3 foot, tie him up in the middle, tack a balloon on either shoulder and stick ten thousand hair pins in his head and if he can stand that I guess he can struggle through a little algebra and geometry."

Mr. Schaeffer's address was practical from beginning to end. He told how an education beyond that received in a grammar school, was a great benefit to everybody. In no case, said he, could such an education come amiss. He also congratulated the citizens of Bellefonte upon their having such a splendid High School, but he deplored the fact that the study of Greek had been dropped from the course.

Mr. Schaeffer was compelled to make his address brief as he had to depart on the evening train.

D. F. Fortney, President of the School Board, made a brief address and made an earnest appeal to the parents of the school children to watch the literature which came into their hands. He also gave the graduates some good advice, after which he presented them with their diplomas.

The winners of prizes were then announced. They were as follows: C. M. Bower Mathematical prize, won by James G. Wright; J. C. Meyer Biographical prize, won by James G. Wright; General Excellence prize, won by Miss Blanche Underwood; W. C. T. U. prizes, won by Miss Katharine Irvin and Russell Blair.

J. C. Meyer was then called on for a speech and he responded briefly.

The exercises were, taken as a whole, a complete success in every way.

Gone Down with all Hands.

When we read such an announcement as this it sends a thrill of horror through our very being. And yet number of lives lost by accidents at sea are very few compared to the number which are sacrificed to single disease on land. Take consumption. Statistics show that twenty per ct. of all the deaths are due to this fatal malady. It would be easier to reconcile ourselves to the fearful fact if there were no remedy. But there is. Dr. Pierces Golden Medical Discovery has cured thousands, and among them many whom the doctors have given up to die. If seeing is is believing, then the thousands of living witnesses to its marvelous efficacy in cases of this kind, ought to convince the most skeptical.

Dr. R. V. Pierce: Dear Sir—Two of our best doctors pronounced my case consumption. I spent nearly $300, and was no better. I concluded to try the "Golden Medical Discovery." I bought eight bottles and I can now say with truth that I feel just as well to-day as I did at twenty-five, and I can do just as good a day's work on the farm, although I had not done any work for several years. I give you all the credit. Truly your friend,

William Dulaney, Campbell, O

To the Public.

Editor of the REPUBLICAN:

You will permit me to say a few words through the columns of your paper concerning Afro-Americans and Anglo-Americans who have or can be bought (their votes) on or before elections. My remarks, however, will be directed more especially to the "Democratic Watcyman of Bellefonte" whose issue of May 29 has in it an article the head of which is "Trouble with the Colored Delegates."

We have in almost every community worthless indolent men without principle and convictions of their own, who will sell their votes to the highest bidder. I suppose the Watchman as well as myself knows who they are in Bellefonte. Then we have a class of would be politicans who are always on the alert for such men, and of the two classes in my opinion the latter is the worse. The Watchman says: "the colored delegate is most susceptible to the influence of a money argument. He goes to Republican national conventions for cash and the candidates with whom he makes the last dicker usually gets his vote. No intelligent christian Negro voter in this country can be bought for a money consideration and where one of the kind of whom I have spoken as being worthless and indolent has been won over by the money argument, the Watchman must remember that the Anglo-Americans out number him by the hundreds and the thousands in this particular. Now if Anglo Americans who are so largely in the majority are guilty of this devlish degrading and sinful way of disposing of the votes, why single out a few of their Afro American brothers when they are the cause of it all! Shame, Shame, let us be fair Mr. Watchman And to be so we would advise you to give a little more attention to the progress of our race variety so that when you may have an occasion to speak of men(so called men) selling their votes you will not mention a mere handful, but put them altogether as a whole. The Watchman must remember that difference makes distinction. Now we have Afro-Americans belonging to almost every party under the sun. What ever others may do there are no factional quarrels among the Afro-American citizens. They are as incarruptible as any class of citizens in the United States. They do not rulk in their tents on election day, nor at the polls do they conceal a razor in the Australian blanket in order to cut away members on the ticket from the head to the foot. Despite outrage and desertion and wrong, despite passion and prejudice, as long as the banner of Republicanism bears upon such illustrious names as Lincoln, Grant, Sherman, Garfield, Blaine, McKinley and Foraker with the principles which these names suggest as long as gratitude is kindled by the memories of the past and while the achievements of the present can give confidence to patriotic hearts as long as the star of hope sheds its rays upon the pathway of the party progress bearing inspiring prophecies of victories to come, the Afro-American citizens of the United States will be among the last to desert its standards or to let its sacred folds trail in the dust of dishonor or defeat.

During the past few weeks the State Live Stock Sanitary Board has had under investigation an outbreak of rabies in Allegheny county. A large number of dogs have had the disease and many horses and cattle have been bitten. Five of the bitten horses and cattle have already died and many of the cattle also have developed rabies and have died or have been killed. Several men and boys have been bitten and have gone to the New York Pasteur Institute for treatment. The outbreak is being studied by Dr. Leonard Pearson, State Veterinarian, with a view of discovering its origin and extent and he has introduced measures that are designed to restrict and crush out the disease. Application for the inspection of cattle and herds for tuberculosis are still coming in at a rapid rate, and many diseased animals are being disposed of. The certificate that the State Live Stock Sanitary Board issues, when it is satisfied that herds are free from disease, is being applied for more freely, and it is found that it is a great business help to milk producers.

"Help! help!" cried the woman was being robbed.

"Calm yourself," said the high wayman, "I don't need any assist.

Blank form of Application to Court for Incorporation of Grange Hall Property under the Law of 1874.

We publish below for the information of Patrons a blank form for application to the court for incorporation. As many of our Granges own their own Halls it may be desirable to be incorborated in order to penetrate the title to the organization in regular succession. In order to do this the following application must be made in open court:

In the Court of Common pleas of Centre County. To the honorable judge of said court.

In complaint with the requirement of an act of the general assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, entitled "An act of provide for the incorporation and regulations of certain corporations" approved the 29 day of April A. D. 1874, and the supplements hereto, the undersigned citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for themselves and those who may associate themselves or who are now associated with them, having associated themselves together for the purposes and upon the terms and by the name herein stated, and desiring that they may be incorporated according to law do hereby certify;

First—The name of the proposed corporation is the Grange Patrons of Husbandry of Pennsylvania.

Second—The said corporation is formed for the purpose of promoting the social, intellectual and financial condition of the farmers residing in the vacinity of Centre County, Pennsylvania.

Third—The business of said corporation shall be transacted in Pennsylvania, where its principal offices also shall be located.

Fourth—The said corporation shall have perpetual succession by its corporate name.

Fifth—There is no capital stock nor are there any shares of stock, the names and residences of the subscribers appear by their signatures hereunto.

Seventh—The corporation has no capital stock, the fees for membership, annual dues fo members and all necessary funds will be assessed as the corporation by its bylaws may determine, which fees and dues will be applied to the purpose for which the corporation is formed.

Eighth—The corporation shall have power to make all necessary bylaws for its regulation and government.

SPEECH OF LEONARD RHONE.

Before the Committee of Ways and Means of the House of Representatives Harrisburg, Pa, April 16 1895 on the Pennsylvania Tax Conference Revenue Bill.

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Ways and Means Committee:

In appearing before you as a member of the Committee of the Pennsylvania Tax Conference, I do not deem it neccessary to burden you with a long argument in support of the Bill submitted to the Legislature, by the Conference, for your consideration.

Mr. Patterson has so fully explained the legal provisions of the Bill, that it is unnecessary for me to dwell on that point.

Mr. Weeks has so fully set forth the estimated revenues that will be derived rom this measure, that there shoud be no doubt in the mind of any member of the Legislature, as to the amount of revenues that will be derived from the Bill if enacted into law.

In drafting this Bill the Conference adhered to the long established policy of setting aside certain classes of property for the support of the State and other classes for the support of the local Government. In this policy Pennsylvania differs from the methods pursued by nearly all the other States of the Union, that of taxing all property locally.

As radical changes of the Revenue Laws of a State or Nation are liable to disturb the business relations, the Conference deemed it wise to adhere to the well established policy so as not to unduly disturb the business relations of our Commonwealth.

In traming this Bill, as will be seen from the statement of the changes made, general principles and the long established usuage of the State have been kept in mind and have been applied wherever it was found possible, as is shown by the following statement taken from one of the reports of our Committee:

1st. That the State should derive its revenue from its own creature, or from the business, person or thing that exists by its authority, and as a rule, from those whose sphere of operation is wider than a county.

2d. The county should derive its revenue from land and from such corporations and businesses as in their operations are wider than the minor civil division and do not come under the first principle.

3d The minor civil division should derive its revenue from such corporations businesses or things as are purely local in their operations.

4th. So far as possible taxes should be a millage rate on an ascertained valuation of property.

5th. The same taxable subject should not have a choice between two or more methods or rates of taxation, as is the case when banks have the option of paying 8 mills on par value of stock, 4 mills on ascertained value.

6th. The same taxing power should not levy on the same taxable subject more than one tax for the same purpose, as is the case with transportation and transmission companies which pay three taxes to the State, on capital stock, gross earnings and bonds held in the State.

7th. The State should not collect taxes from any subject of taxation a whole or part of which particular tax is to be given back to counties or minor civil divisions This does, of course, not apply to appropriations of different sums by the state for definite purposes as school money, which is to be expended through the counties and minor civil divisions, but to cases like the return of taxes on moneys and credits.

8th. All corporations organized for profit should pay something to the State from which they derive their existance and secure their franchises.

9th. That publicity is the best method of securing uniformity and equality of assessment.

These changes will affect the revenue of the State in three different ways:

I. By turning over to the counties and minor civil divisions certain taxes which now go to the State.

II. The changes in the methods of levying taxes suggested will make changes in the State revenue, increasing it in most cases and decreasing it in others, but on the whole increasing it.

III. The State revenue will be increased by the taxation of corporations that now escape State taxation and equalizing taxes between corporations.

The entire expenditures in the State for all purposes, including State, counties and other local divisions, are $51,850,278

The State expenditures proper, are $12,969,511,00.

For county and other local sub-divisions $38,880,767.00

Under the present policy, personal and corporate property is taxed for State purposes. Real etate is taxed for the support of the county and local governments.

Were the relative values of corporate

On the other hand we find the aggregate estimated value of corporate and personal property from the same report, in the State to be $3,531,614,056, which is stated to be below the actual value;—$4,500,000,000, is probably nearer the actua value of that which should be taxable. From this $4,500,000,000 are collected by the State revenues proper, amounting to $12,969,511.00, an average of three mills, as compared with ten mills, the average tax on real estate.

Another view to take of this subject is that if all the property in the State, which is valued at $8,500,000,000, was taxed uniformely, six mills would all the revenue necessary for State and local purposes.

But under existing laws the numerous exemptions of property from taxation, the acival assesment on real estate exceeds fifteen mills, while that on corporate and personal propeoty does not exceed four mills; this gross inequality this Bill proposes, in a measure, to correct by the following methods:

1st. Should this Bill become a law it will fix a property valuation upon transportation and transmission companies by adding to the cash value of the stock, the cash value of the bonds as appraising the true value of the property upon which it is proposed to levy a horizontal mill rate; thus equalizing the rates of taxation upon this class of property, which will increase the State revenues from this source $900,000.00.

2nd. The Bill proposes to levy a one mill tax upon manufacturing corporations; that is, upon that portion of their capital that is left, after deducting the value of their real estate, taxed locally, and other moneyed investments already taxed, but it is not contemplated that this shall apply to mutual copartnerships that have no corporate privileges. It is estimated that the revenues of the State would be increased $270,000.00 from this source, and was agreed to by the representatives of the manufacturing interests in the Tax Conference and is not objected to by the more liberal and patriotic men engaged in manufacturing pursuits, and is looked upon by them as a duty they owe to the State which gives them these extraordinary privileges and protection.

3rd. The Bill proposes to tax Building and Loan Associations one mill upon their assets, as a franchise tax, for the support of the State which gives them life and protection, which will place them precisely in the same situation that Savings Fund Institutions are placed, which under existing laws pay a very much higher tax. It also proposes to place Mutual Fire Insurance Companies upon the same footing by levying a one mill tax upon their gross premiums; this will place all these institutions on a like footing and brings the Bill under the constitutional requirement of the State. That is that all institutions incorporated by the State for profit shall pay to the State something for their privileges and protection. The estimated receipts that would be derived from this source would increase the State revenues $110,000.00.

4th. The Bill proposes to put all National Banks upon an equality, by taxing the larger banks by the same method as the smaller ones, which is estimated will increase the State revenues $75,000.00, and be it said to the credit of National Bankers that they have raised no objection to this provision, believing that it is their duty to bear their share of the public burdens.

There are other additional sources of revenues to the State by this Bill which have been enumerated by those preceding me. The increase of revenues of the State from all these sources would exceed one million, four hundred thousand dollars over what is collected from present laws, and with the rapid increase of electric railways and other corporate property would, no doubt, in less than a year, increase the State revenues over two hundred thousand dollars more without levying a burdensome tax upon any of the corporate indpstries. An equal amount being diverted to the local government will leave the amount of the State revenues unchanged. It has been asked "What will the farmers get out of this revenue measure, that influenced their representatives in the Conference to agree to this Bill?" In reply, we would say that it will turn over to the counties the entire tax on moneyed capital, mercantile licenses, tax on private banks and brokers, auctioneers' licenses, tax and fees of county offices on writs, wills and deeds, etc., which will increase the county revenues from these new resources for the counties one million, five hundred thousand dollars, and it will turn over to the townships, boroughs and cities taxes on horses and cattle licenses for billiards, theatres, circusses, eating houses, etc., amounting to upwards of five hundred thousand dollars more. These new sources of revenues for townships and counties will aggregate upwards of two million dollars, thereby lowering the tax on real estate, the homes and farms of the people; two million dollars, without robbing any other industry, and in this the Manufacturers and Building Associations would be benefitted as much as the farmers.

The farmers of the State are certainly entitled to as much consideration at the hands of the Legislature as the other great industries, especially when we take into consideration that 50 per cent. of the people and 50 per cent. of the wealth are employed in this industry, and at this time absolutely need the fostering care of the Government, as their investments are not earning over two per cent., and those engaged in the pursuit not receiving over 25 cents a day for their labor.

Two years ago, when this question was before the Legislature, they were asked to wait until the Tax Conference had completed its work, and we were promised by the political leaders that as soon as the Conference had completed its work and arrived at a conclusion the question in dispute would be settled in accordance with the conclusions arrived at by these great interests represented.

Now we respectfully ask the Legislature to accept the Bill agreed upon and enact it into a law without needless delay or irritation, remembering that if no tax law be enacted until it receives the approval of every citizen there will never be any revenue legislation.

We, therefore, respectfully ask you to enact the Bill into law prepared by the Conference of the great industries of the State without discriminating amendments.

AMONG THE GRANGERS.

The members of Progress Grange No 96 Centre Hall will celebrate Children's Day on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, June 20th, by holding a picnic and festival at Grange Park. The young people, with Brother George Gingrich as General Superintendent, have entire charge of all arrangements. Everybody is invited ad will be welcomed upon their arrival by the Committee. Every effort will be made to entertain the children and a pleasant time is assured for all.

Bald Eagle Grange, No. 157. Milesburg, at the last meeting May 23. conferred the 3rd. and 4th. Degrees upon a class of seven. The impressive work of the Degrees was well wrought and the class expressed themselves greatly pleased. At the close the usual collation, consisting of tropical fruits and cake were served, which all enjoyed. One application was received and appropriately referred. Brother S. B. Leathers and wife of, Howard, were present. Bro. L. gave one of his plain, sensible talks and urged the members to support THE PATRON as the organ of the order in Centre County.

WOODWARD, PA., May 22, 1896.

MR. EDITOR—Thinking that it would be of interest to the readers of THE PATRON to hear from "Goodwill Grange," which lives and thrives in Harris township, in the extreme Eastern part of Centre county, we will write you briefly. We meet in our own hall regularly every two weeks, and often weekly, nearly always in the evening. The officers are generally in their places and the interest of our meetings is strengthened by the discussion of subjects of interest to the Grange and farmers. Our young sisters also help in this part of the work by rendering recitations, music, etc., and while we are looking after the intellectual and social features we are gladdened by the financial part of our Grange. Our Distributing office is under the supervision of our worthy brother, William J. Krape, who deals out and keeps on hand almost everything bought from a country store, saving to our other members a very satisfactory percentage on the supplies needed in our families. Thus it may be seen that in all the different departments of Grange work we are prospering.

Fraternally yours,

LECTURER.

Woman's Industrial Position.

AUGUSTA COOPER BRISTOL

I am almost ready to affirm that women's need of the ballot arises entirely from the point of view of industrial conditions since all rights privileges, and needs, develope from the one fundamental responsibility of sustaining and developing one's individual existence. Through the complex developement of a civilization based in competition, we are like women huddling on a sea shore, driven by a social development that prevents any backward retreat, and which also forces us either into an overwhelming surf, or or compels us to take a boat for the open seas of affairs. And yet no oar is given us. We are compelled—nolens volens—"to paddle our own canoe" yet without a paddle. We drift, we are in terror at the breakers, and we plead with man as he shoots past, conquering nature and circumstances. We ask for oars but he smiles good naturedly, and tells us that women are getting too ambitious; that we are not as attractive as we were before we ask for these things; that we are not as picturesque in the boat and that he cannot see clearly why we are there. And indeed we ourselves do not perceive how it came about, and we wish it were not so and the dear old song commencing "Backward turn Backward, O time in thy flight" is forever in the heart. But there we are driven into the boats by that dread personality—civilization—and yet the necessary oar has thus far been withheld.

Again—to use another metaphor—civilization with its competitive system has forced the entire race into mountain ranges, which is compelled to conquer and subdue. Woman is there with her husband, sons and brothers, and must climb because there is no retreat; yet the Alpine stick which man carries both as defense and support is not placed in her hands. If she pleads for it man responds good humoredly, but tells her she would not know how to use it, and the attempt would really be more of a disadvantage than a help to the entire company. So she follows as best she may—stumbling, falling, yet smiling, that no one may guess her tears.

How little the opponents of women suffrage perceive and understand, that in the final analysis that is a question of self preservation in an arena of conflicting forces; and that is as unrelated to personal ambitions, as the cry of Peter to his master when he found himself sinking.

It is high time that man should perceive and admit, that the social event which has led women to ask for the ballot, is not of her making or desire; and the asking is only the imperative necessity of that situation. Meanwhile progress waits that man's philosophy may rise to the height of the occasion.

Having a Tooth Pulled.

There is one even in the life of a man or woman that is almost as important when contemplated, for the time being, as matrimony or death, and that is when a tooth is to be pulled. No matter how brave the man is or courageous the woman there is nervous dread filling the bosom when a visit to a dentist becomes necessary. It is only natural, therefore at such a time for a person to desire the most skillful and rapid treatment, accompanied by the least suffering. The demand is universal, and happy for Washingtonians, there is an establishment here which meets it in the very best manner possible. This is the well known United States Dental Association, which has offices in all the leading cities in the Union. Its system of specialism requires an expert for each branch of dentistry, and its practice is divided into four distinct departments: Operative dentistry, crown, bar and bridge work; oral surgery and prosthetic dentistry.

Among other advantages claimed by the United States Dental Association are two important specialties of its own. One is the neal vegetable vapor, for the painless extraction and filling of teeth,

The other specialty is its dental plate known as coraloid; a material which is lighter, purer, stronger and altogether more desirable than any other, except gold.

The offices of the association are located in Washington at the corner of 7th and D streets northwest. The entire second floor is utilized, and fitted up in sumptuous manner. Courteous lady attendants wait upon patrons, and polite operators freely answer the inquiries of all who come for consultation or advice. Scientific appliances and cheerful surroundings rob dentistry of its old time terrors, so that a seeker after novelties is almost tempted to have a tooth operated on for the sake of the experience.

A woman stole a kiss from Tillman in Denver and was lauded for her boldness. A man has been fined $100 for stealing a kiss from a woman in Chicago. And yet women are bawling for equal rights.—St. Luis Republic

Pennsylvania Crops.

Washington, June 2.—The weekly telegraphic crop reports of the weather bureau were issued to-day as follows:

Pennsylvania—Crops much improved by sufficient rains; wheat, rye and hay crops mostly short; corn, oats, potatoes and vegetables doing well; bugs and worms troublesome.

"Well, here is the money you've been tormenting me for," said a rich uncle to his spendthrift nephew. "Use it wisely, and remember that a fool and his money are soon parted."

"I don't know about that," replied the young scapegrace. "I've been coaxing you more than a week for this."

Police Sergeant—"Is the man dangerously wounded?" Irish Police Surgeon—"Two of the wounds are mortal; but the third can be cured, provided the man keeps perfectly quiet for at least six weeks." Tit-Bits.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C. June 1st 1896.

While no republican in Congress contends that the River and Harbor Bill which Mr. Cleveland has vetoed and which will this week almost certainly be passed over his veto is a perfect measure, or that any previous bill like its kind was every republican in both branches of Congress will vote to pass the bill over the veto, because they believe it is taken as a whole a good measure and that the improvements provided for will mostly, if not all, be good commercial investments. The bill is in line with the system of internal improvements which the republican party has always fostered and believed in. Besides these reasons, the failure of the bill to become a law would result in large losses by reason of the stoppage of many important improvements now under way.

It is now regarded as certain that Congress will not be in session later than next Monday or Tuesday, and there is a strong probability that adjournment will take place during the latter part of the present week.

Although the President, Vice-President and every member of the Cabinet except Secretary Morton was in Washington the only member of the administration who attended any of the memorial day exercises was Secretary Herbert, who is an ex-Confederate. This has been commented upon to a considerable extent, as there was no excuse other than want of inclination why these officials should not have paid their respects to the memory of the men who gave up their lives to make it possible for them to hold their present offices.

A majority of Congress feel reluctant to adjourn without doing something definite for Cuba, but any attempt to do anything would start an indefinite debate which do more harm than good, with no certainty that anything could be done, anyway.

Senator Squier, as the first step towards the erection of a suitable memorial to Gen. Grant, has introduced a bill providing for the creation of a Commission, composed of the Secretary of War, the Chairman of the House and Senate joint Committee on the Library, and the Architect of the Capitol. The duties of this commission will be to secure from leading artists and architects plans and estimates for a monument, each artist or architect being at liberty to make his own, and the estimated cost of the same. All of these plans are to be reported to Congress. After consideration, Senator Squier concluded that this was a better plan than that of his original bill, providing out-right for a monument to Gen. Grant. He wishes the monument to be the best that can be suggested, and believes the creation of this commission is the best way to get it.

The silver democrats are considerably stirred up over a consultation which Mr Harrity, the Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and with Mr. Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle while he was in Washington. The consultation would not have worried the silver men much, as they knew that all the parties present had been doing all they knew how to do to down them for many months, had it not been for Harrity's announcement afterward, that he intended to support the ticket and platform made by the Chicago convention. They don't believe that Harrity would support a silver candidate, and they fear that his announcement means that some trick has been concocted by which Harrity feels certain of defeating the silver men at the Convention.

The Treasury deficit for the month of May exceeds $3,000,000, and for the eleven months of the present fiscal year is pushing $27,000,000 and these figures are made as favorable as possible by democratic Treasury officials.

If you wish to make Senator Brice mad you have only to mention Mr. Cleveland's name to him. He thinks of Mr. C. what the late Wm. H. Vanderbilt once said of one of his sons-in-law. The trouble all came about through the fight between the silver and anti-silver democrats in Ohio. Although Senator Brice has no love for Mr. Cleveland since the tariff fight which resulted in the substitution of the Gorman tariff bill for the original Wilson bill, he ometime ago called on him and told him that he would help him to prevent the silver men getting the Ohio delegation to the Chicago convention. According to his friends, Mr. Cleveland gladly welcomed his offered assistance. It was not long, however, before Senator Brice found out that the "sound money" democrats in Ohio were expected to become a mere Cleveland machine, to vote for him or for any man he might name, in case they got to Chicago. He also found out that instead of his being credited for what he was trying to do, the Cleveland men were steadily trying to break down his influence in the party. He threw up in disgust, and now says he doesn't care what the Convention does.

The political gossips are all busy trying to figure out what was talked about as a conference between Senator Quay and ex-Senator Platt. These gentlemen met Saturday night, and it is fair to infer that their talk was interesting.

HARDIN-STEVENSON.

Vice President's Daughter Weds the Kentucky Leader's Son.

A DISTINGUISHED GATHERING.

The President and Mrs. Cleveland, Members of the Cabinet, Many Foreign Representatives and a Large Number of Congressmen Witness the Marriage.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—In the presence of a distinguished gathering of friends from both official and resident society, Miss Julia, the eldest daughter of Vice President and Mrs. Stevenson, was married last night to Rev. Martin D. Hardin, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Watt Hardin, of Danville, Ky.

The ceremony took place at the New York Avenue Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock, the Rev. Wallace Radcliffe officiating, and it was witnessed by President and Mrs. Cleveland, members of the cabinet and their families, a number of foreign ambassadors and ministers and their families and a large number of congressmen. The platform and reading desk was adorned with palms and roses.

When the bridal party entered the church the ushers approached the platform by the center aisle and the bridesmaids by the side aisles, all meeting to receive the bride, who came into the church with her father, who gave her in marriage.

The bride's wedding dress is of ivory white satin of great richness. The bodice is high necked and has chiffon trimmings, held by small clusters of orange blossoms. A spray of orange blossoms was worn with the tulle veil, and the bridal bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Letitia Stevenson, the maid of honor, wore pale blue French muslin. The skirt has two lace edge ruffles. The bodice has a square neck and the ribbons in the girdle are of double faced white satin. Her bouquet was of white roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Letitia Scott, Miss Jane Hardin, Miss Julia Scott and Miss Julia Hardin, wore white French muslins, with fichus of muslin, lace trimmed. They carried pink roses.

Mr. Charles Hardin was best man. The ushers were Mr. Woodward Longmoor and Mr. Richard Hill of Kentucky, Mr. Carl Vrooman of Baltimore, Mr. George Hamlin of Boston, Captain Bromwell, United States engineer corps, and Mr. Walter Wilcox.

After the ceremony at the church a wedding reception, lasting from 8:30 to 10 o'clock, was given at the Normandie hotel, which had been elaborately decorated for the occasion. The attendance was very large, and included President and Mrs. Cleveland, the members of the cabinet and their ladies. A number of the relatives of the young couple from Illinois and Kentucky was here. After the reception the couple left the city for Bowling Green, Ky.

The wedding gifts are unusually beautiful and elaborate. The vice president and Mrs. Stevenson gave a large diamond star, which clasped the veil to the brown hair of the bride. General and Mrs. Hardin, the bridegroom's parents, gave the bride a brougham and a pair of horses. The Chinese minister sent a magnificent roll of white satin brocade; Secretary and Mrs. Lamont, an empire fan with pearl sticks; the Brazilian minister and Mme. de Mendonca, a painting which is a gem of art; the Mexican minister and Mme. Romero, a silver tea service, gold lined, each piece bearing the bride's monogram; Mrs. Stevenson, the mother of the vice president, sent two bonbon spoons, with a beautiful sentiment; Minister and Mrs. Ewing, an exquisite point lace handkerchief; the Illinois congressional delegation, a large silver pitcher.

One of the most handsome gifts was a silver tea service presented by a committee composed of Senators Morrill and Harris on behalf of the United States senate.

Fought Fifteen Bloody Rounds.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 3.—Anthony McGinty and John Darken, two local pugilists, fought fifteen bloody rounds at Mill Creek last evening. No gloves were used. Both men were terribly cut and bruised. Sheriff Martin got wind of the affair and stole up to the ring. He jumped into the inclosure and placed both men under arrest, with the aid of a posse. He escorted the fighters to a creek, where their wounds were dressed. Then they were taken before a justice of the peace and put under bonds for a trial at court.

Reed Won't Have Second Place.

BANGOR, Me., June 2.—In an interview today Hon. J. H. Manley said: "I have never written to Mr. Hanna or any other person that Thomas B. Reed would accept the nomination for vice president. On the contrary I know that Mr. Reed will not accept this nomination under any circumstances. We expect to nominate him for

ITEMS OF STATE NEWS.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., June 2.—Paul Kopressak, a Slav, died yesterday at Charity hospital, evidently a victim of the bludgeon. Kopressak was picked up with a fractured skull on Sunday morning in an unconscious condition on a public road near Port Kennedy, and brought to the hospital. Kopressak died without recovering consciousness, and the manner of his death is a total mystery.

PHILADELPHIA, May 30.—Herman Keck, a member of the firm of Keck, Coaterman & Co., diamond importers, of Cincinnati, was found guilty yesterday in the United States district court of attempting to smuggle diamonds. It was shown that Keck had given the captain of the steamer Rhynland a package containing $7,000 worth of diamonds addressed to F. Von Reiter, of No. 21 West Fourth street, Cincinnati. Counsel for Kack made a motion for a new trial.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., June 1.—Washington Logan was arrested two weeks ago for not having a lighted lamp on his bicycle. When brought before Burgess Williams he pleaded poverty, and was given ten days in which to pay. He did not settle and was again arrested on Saturday, but when brought before the burgess said he had no more money than formerly. He was, therefore, sent to jail for ten days. When searched by Warden Bickel $103 were found in his pockets. The $7.50 fine was then handed over and Logan was released.

LANCASTER, Pa., June 2.—The mutilated body of a child supposed to be between 7 and 8 years of age was found in a remote part of the Colebrook hills, just across the Lebanon county line, Sunday afternoon. The body, which was minus head, hands and feet, was sewed in a sack which was lying among some rocks in a lonely wilderness that is rarely frequented by human beings, and some children on their way to Sunday school were attracted to the spot by a stench which was caused by the decomposition of the body. It had probably been there for a month, if not longer. The general supposition is that the child was killed at some distant place.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., June 2.—Five miners were horribly roasted by an explosion of gas at the Buck Ridge colliery yesterday forenoon. The victims are: George Faust, frightfully burned about his entire body; Thomas Thompson, roasted from head to foot; Samuel Faust, a brother of George, burned about hands face and body; Daniel Schmeltz, burned about head, face and upper part of body; John Specht, burned about head, face and body. Seven other workmen who were within twenty-five yards of the injured men, escaped without injury. Samuel Faust and Thomas Thompson died in terrible agony in the afternoon.

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—Edwin H. Fitler, ex-mayor of Philadelphia and head of the well known firm of cordage manufacturers bearing his name, died at his home in this city last night, aged 69. He was at one time president of the American Cordage Manufacturers' association, and at the time of his death was a director of the Bank of the Northern Liberties and the North Penn Railroad company. He was elected mayor of this city on the Republican ticket in 1887, and in 1888 his name was presented by the united Philadelphia delegation to the Republican national convention in Chicago as their choice for president.

PHILADELPHIA, May 30.—Alphonso Cutaiar, Jr., was last night convicted of murder in the first degree for killing Johanna Logue, his aunt, and the wife of the notorious burglar, "Jimmy" Logue. The crime was committed in February, 1879, and for sixteen years was enveloped in mystery. On Oct. 16, 1893, a carpenter repairing the house at No. 1250 North Eleventh street tore up some boards from the kitchen floor and found the skeleton of Johanna Logue. The arrest of Cutaiar followed. He admitted that he had buried the body, but declares that she met death by accident and that he buried it through fear of being held responsible for her death.

PITTSBURG, June 1.—Car No. 50 of the Second Avenue Traction line jumped the track yesterday afternoon, and the seventeen passengers aboard were all more or less hurt, two of them seriously. The day of miracles has not passed or all would have been killed. The seriously injured are Adam Bachman and M. L. Kreiger, both residents of the South Side. Bachman's arm is broken in two places and his head is badly cut and his body bruised. Kreiger is in nearly the same condition. While going at railroad speed the car took a flying leap, and after turning completely over landed at the bottom of a ditch twelve feet below, with its wheels in the air.

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—The Garfield statue on the East Park river drive, below Girard avenue bridge, was unveiled Saturday night amid a scene of gorgeous splendor. Stretching up from the monument like the sides of a huge amphitheater the hills were densely packed with an audience of fully 50,000 people, who shouted themselves hoarse as H. A. Garfield, the son of the martyred president, dropped the flag which veiled the monument. Surrounding the monument were a thousand members and guests of the Fairmount Park Art association, while stretching down by the river banks were countless thousands of spectators who had been unable to secure places of vantage on the hillsides.

LANCASTER, Pa., June 1.—William Balz, a well known hotelkeeper of this city, died yesterday from softening of the brain, induced, it is believed, by a bullet wound which he received a little more than a year ago. Balz had discharged his barkeeper, Adam Bertsch, for drunkeness, and Bertsch in a burst of rage shot him, the ball entering his head and cutting out an eye. It did not enter the brain, but was never removed from the skull. Balz hovered between life and death for several weeks, but finally recovered sufficiently to attend to his business, though he frequently complained of severe pains in the head. His assailant is at present serving a term in the county jail for aggravated assault and battery.

MUST NOT REMARRY.

President Cleveland Objects Strongly to Pensioning Soldiers' Widows Who Marry Again.

Washington, D. C., June 2.—The president to-day returned to congress three private pensions bills with his veto in each case. In the case of two of the bills granting pensions to Mrs. Amanda Woodcock, and Jonathan Scott, both originating in in the house, he points out owing to careless description in the bills the pensions could not be paid under their terms. In the other, a senate bill, granting a pension to Helen N. Jacob, the president forcibly sets out his objection to allowing pension to widows of soldiers who remarry. The vetoes read as follows: To the Senate:

I herewith return, without approval, senate bill numbered 149, entitled "An act granting a pension to Helen N. Jacob."

The purpose of this bill is to grant a pension of $12 per month to "Helen N. Jacobs of Rochester, Ind., widow of Benjamin Oden West." It appears from the records of the war department that Benjamin O. West served in the Mexican war from January to November, in the year 1847. The beneficiary named in the bill was married to him in 1850, and he died in 1856. She was pensioned as his widow and received such pension from the date of her husband's death until April 17, 1861. On that day she was married to William W. Jacobs, whereupon her pension ceased but two minor children were awarded pensions and continued in the receipt of the same until January, 1873, when the youngest child became 16 years of age.

The entire absence of any fixed or reasonable principle or rule regulating private pension legislation at this time suggests the danger of its near approach in many cases to caprice and favoritism, though I have in a number of instances, deferred to the judgment of congress, and refrained from interposing objections to bills of this character, which seemed to me to be of doubtful merit, I am unwilling to follow such a wide departure from a palpably just pension theory and assent to the establishment of such an unfortunate precedent as this bill involves. There is no duty or obligation due from the government to a soldier's widow except it be worked out through the deceased soldier, his country 2nd because, through his death, she, as his wife, has lost his support. In other words she becomes a beneficiary of the government because she is a soldier's widow. When she marries again and thus displaces the memory of her soldier husband and surrenders all that belongs to soldier widowhood she certainly ought not, on the death of her second husband, be allowed to claim that she is again the soldier's widow.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

Says an old soldier and his head is as level as a great lake of water on a perfectly calm day: "Tell the band leaders to play only patriotic and national selections on Military and Grand Army day at Hollidaysburg. The veterans grow young again when they hear 'America,' 'Star Spangled Banner,' 'Dixie Land,' 'Marching Through Georgia,' Give the German compositors a rest that day. Give us an air that will send the hot blood of patriotism coursing through our veins. Give us the old time melodies that we once loved to hear on the southern camping grounds."

Superior to Imported Wines.

New York, Dec. 11, 1893.

Alfred Speer, Prest.:

Dear Sir:—I can say emphatically that I like your wines far better than any of the imported wines. Your Claret, Sherry and Sauterne are very fine and agreeable. Your latter is my favorite.

I am, yours truly, S. F. Howland.
29 West 42nd St.,

Women do many things that get them all out of order. Careless dressing, exposure to draughts, over exertion—these and many others start the trouble. A slight cold may run into the most serious complications.

Perhaps none of these things would amount to much if only care were exercised to remedy them at once. Neglect is a most prolific cause of serious female troubles. By and by, the trouble is so much aggravated that the physician's skill is needed and then the dread of the examinations so much in vogue at present, deter the sufferer still longer.

As a matter of fact, examinations and "local treatment" should not be submitted to till everything else has failed. Nine times in ten, they are wholly unnecessary. Women were cured before these obnoxious methods came into practice. For over 30 years, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been successfully prescribed for all derangements of the womanly organism. It is remarkable for its effect on the whole system. It makes the blood pure, makes digestion better, helps stomach, kidneys and bowels and is wonderful in its effects on the generative organs. It immediately begins to allay the inflammation and stops the debilitating drain that is always apparent. As the inflammation ceases, the pain stops, the nerves are quieted and the increased bodily strength does the rest.

All suffering women should send for the 168 page book "Woman and Her Diseases" by Dr. R. V. Pierce. It will be sent free in plain sealed package on receipt of ten cents to partly cover postage, by WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

DARTE WAS ELECTED.

The Headquarters Man Is the New Grand Army Commander—Sons of Veteran In Camp.

Chambersburg, Pa., June 3.—Fifteen hundred veterans participated in to-day's parade in honor of the state encampment of the G. A. R., and fully 15,000 strangers were among the crowds who witnessed the procession. The pupils and the band from Scotland Orphans' Industrial school are in town.

Judge Alfred Darte of Wilkesbarre was elected commander this afternoon by a vote of 480 to 330 over James B. Denwerth It is generally understood that W. H. H. Mackey of Chambersburg will be senior vice-commander.

Mrs. Ada L. Shannon of Courtland Saunders circle No. 66, Philadelphia, was elected president of the Ladies G. A. R. circle after a lively contest, defeating Mrs. L. L. Smith of Allegheny. The defeated candidate was elected senior vice-president. The other officers will be elected to-morrow.

Commander Cummings reported that during the past year four new posts had been formed and sixteen disbanded. There are 36,876 members in the order, and the receipts in the last year were $8,594.

Gettysburg, Pa., June 3.—The annual encampment of the Pennsylvania departments Sons of Veterns, which met here to day, was called to order by Department Commander C. E. Diffenderfer of Reading who presided. Over 600 delegates and visitors are here. To-night the various camps joined in a parade, which was reviewed by the division officers in Centre square. At the business meeting Towanda, Pa., was chosen for the next meeting.

The official meeting of the Ladies' Aid society, auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans, met in the G. A. R. post hall in the afternoon. Miss Lula A. Kitzmiller of this place presiding.

Battery C. United States artillery, which will fire salute in connection with the dedication of the Meade and Hancock statues arrived to-night and went into camp near the Meade statue.

"Miss Cayenne paid me a compliment lawst night," said Willie Wishington. "One of the sort which she makes a specialty. She told me she thought I had a pleasant disposition." "How did she know?" "That's what I asked her. She said any one could see that I was easy to please by the way in which I laughed at some of my own remarks."—Washington Star.

Hood's Sarsaparilla taken at this time will make you feel strong and vigorous and keep you from sickness later on.

THE MOSCOW MASSACRE

Thirty-six Hundred People Trampled to Death.

THE TRAGEDY OF THE GREAT FETES

While a Million People Are Crowding Forward for a Free Banquet Provided for Half a Million, a Rush for Souvenirs Precipitates the Fatality.

Moscow, June 1.—Half a million people were indulging in merrymaking on Khodynski plain, facing the Petrovsky palace on Saturday, when the festivities were interrupted by a tragic occurrence in which many lives were lost. The free feast, which has always been a popular feature of coronations, has always been the occasion of crowding and good natured disputes for places on the part of the guests of the city, but no such noisy demonstration was ever witnessed on the plain as that which marked Saturday's monster gathering.

It was at first arranged to accommodate 400,000 people, but in view of the immense crowds assembled in and about this city for the coronation fetes extra tables and benches were hastily erected, and every effort was made to provide seating room and a hearty meal for 500,000 people. Twice that number was desirous of taking part in the feast, but the authorities decided that there must be a limit to the number to be entertained, and so the figure was fixed at half a million.

To feed this multitude an army of cooks and waiters was gathered together, and the army bakehouses were tested to their utmost capacity. Five hundred thousand mugs, each bearing portraits of the czar and czarina, were ordered for presentation to the people taking part in the great banquet. Thousands of cattle, train loads of provisions and ship loads of liquid refreshments were sent to the Khodynski plain during the week. At dawn the crowd about the tables was enormous, and they were all desperately hungry, some of them having fasted, by choice or necessity, for nearly twenty-four hours.

Various versions as to the origin of the stampede and crush are current, but the account to which the most credence is attached is to the effect that the wagons laden with the 500,000 souvenirs which were to be distributed among the people were proceeding to the Khodynski plain, followed by a multitude of eager peasants, when the attendants, with a view to pleasing the people, threw a number of the souvenirs among the crowd. There was a wild scramble towards the point where they fell, and the news spread like wildfire that the distribution had commenced. This resulted in a headlong, pell mell rush for the booths where the distribution of souvenirs was to have been made later.

What added greatly to the gravity of the disaster was the circumstances that these booths were surrounded by ditches. The foremost persons in the oncoming crowd fell prostrate in these ditches and the people following speedily trampled them to death. Others stumbled over their bodies and met the same fate. And so the horror grew. The pressure was so great upon the sides of the booths from the struggles of the mass of mad humanity that they gave way, and hundreds of people were forced into them through the broken walls. One mounted gendarme near the booths was literally crushed to death, together with his rearing and plunging horse.

Very few of the victims, it is announced, belong to the well to do classes. Nearly all are moujiks, or peasants, and a large proportion of the dead are women and children.

Moscow, June 2.—There were 1,277 victims of Saturday's catastrophe buried yesterday. The bodies of those who were identified and claimed by relatives were interred in private graves, but at the expense of the municipality. The great number of the unidentified dead were buried in eleven great trenches, each fifty yards long. The trenches were deep, and the mutilated bodies had to be placed close together to find room for them all. There were 600 workmen engaged all night long at the Vaganovskoe cemetery digging the trenches.

Thirty-six Hundred Were Killed.

London, June 2.—A dispatch from Moscow to The Standard says that it is estimated that a total of 3,600 persons were killed and 1,200 persons injured, the majority of them fatally, by the disastrous crush on the Khodijnskoje plain on Saturday morning.

Wants $65,000 for Training Mrs. Carter.

New York, June 3.—In the supreme court yesterday a jury was impaneled for the trial of the suit of David Belasco against N. K. Fairbanks, of Chicago. Belasco claims that the western millionaire owes him $65,000 for his services and expenses in training Mrs. Leslie Carter for the stage, which, he alleges, occupied his entire time from July, 1889, to November, 1890. Counsel for Belasco, in stating his case, said that Fairbanks had agreed to pay the plaintiff whatever was reasonable, and counsel held that the claim for $65,000, which included sundry items of traveling and other expenses, is within that designation. Mr. Fairbanks claims that he has paid Belasco $51,000.

Three More Pension Vetoes.

Washington, June 2.—The president yesterday returned to congress three private pension bills with his veto in each case. In the case of two of the bills, granting pensions to Mrs. Amanda Woodcock and Jonathan Scott, both originating in the house, the president points out that, owing to the careless description in the bills, the pensions could not be paid under their terms. In the other, a senate bill granting a pension to Helen M. Jacob, the president forcibly sets out his objection to allowing pensions to widows of soldiers who remarry.

Hammond Out on Parole.

Pretoria, June 2.—John Hayes Hammond, the American mining engineer who was sentenced to death as one of the leaders of the Johannesburg reform committee in the late conspiracy against the Transvaal government, but whose sentence was subsequently commuted to fifteen years' imprisonment, has been released on parole in order that he might visit his wife, who is ill at Johannesburg.

$36,000,000 Yearly for Beer.

Philadelphia, June 3.—The annual convention of the National Brewers' association opened here today, and will continue three days. In an address to the delegates, President Bergner, of the Philadelphia association, said: "The annual sales have increased in value since 1876 from $8,500,000 to $36,000,000, and the breweries of this country now represent a capitalization of $350,000,000."

PHILADELPHIA

He is Now a Major.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 3.—Winchester Dana Osgood, the famous ex-halfback of Pennsylvania's foot ball team, who went to Cuba with the Pena expedition, and has been promoted to the rank of major "for bravery in the field of battle before La Zapa." Maj. Osgood is the son of Capt. H. B. Osgood, United States army, now stationed at Boston. By his recent promotion the son outranks his father. Young Osgood did not enter the Cuban army as a private, however. Like the seven other members of the Pena expedition, which so successfully landed its cargo of arms and ammunition without losing a cartridge, he was made an officer from the very start. He is now serving under Gen. Carillo, who is said to be somewhere near the line between Villas and Camagney, which lies between the middle and eastern third of the island. It is said that Maj. Osgood will shortly be with Gen. G

A FAITHFUL WIFE'S ANXIETY.

She Pleads for the Life of Her Husband but is Told that He has but One Month to Live.

A Sturdy Wolverine Farmer, Weighing 168 Pounds, Reduced to a Mere Skeleton in Four Short Months. After Being Turned from the Physician's Door to Die, He Lives to Become His Former Self. He Tells the Story.

From the Democrat, Caro, Mich.

"Fourteen years ago," said H. M. Underwood, who has for the past five years held the office of School Director in District No. 7, Indianfields township, and is well known throughout the county, "my brother and I moved into this county. 'Twas a wilderness then, and we located in the pines here with nothing but our hands to carve out our homes. It was an unequal struggle; but hard work and economy won the day and two years ago, with my forty acres nearly clear of debt, I began to feel that the worst was over. In April of that spring I was assisting in driving logs down the Cass River, when I was taken with a slight but constant pain in the left side below the heart. As days passed the trouble increased; my appetite fell away and I visited one of the best known and most successful doctors in Caro, the county seat. I was informed that I had an inward abscess and must cease work.

"It was hard to quit work when I knew too well that it only meant another mortgage on my little farm, but within a few days I was obliged to return to my home. The medicine furnished by the doctor gave me slight relief but I could detect no permanent benefit. My appetite was gone; I could not sleep, and each day found me growing weaker. I next visited Dr. A. L. Seeley, of Mayville, who, from the first, said that he had but slight hopes of benefiting me and recommended that I go to a sanitarium. With no money this I could not do, even though it would save my life, and with medicine that the doctor furnished I returned to my home feeling that the last ray of hope that I ever would be my former self was fast disappearing. Days passed and I was rapidly losing flesh. During the awful months which I passed that summer—and I can never forget them—I was reduced in flesh from weighing 168 pounds to 110.

"Slowly the long days and the awful nights passed until another seven days had been added to the awful days of torture; and still no relief, and my weight was now 140 pounds, nerves shattered and my system in a deplorable condition. At this juncture my wife said that something must be done, and with assistance I was taken to Mayville, where Dr. Seeley was again consulted. After making a thorough examination my wife earnestly pleaded that he do something for me. He said that he could do nothing; relief might be found at a sanitarium, but otherwise he would give me just one more month to live. Sorrowfully she turned from the physician's door, and what I considered my last journey home was soon to be undertaken. I had read in the Caro Democrat of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and the benefits many had received from them, and with faith less than the 'grain of mustard seed,' I asked her to step into the drug store and secure a box. This she did, and after a jolting ride over a poor road we finally reached home, tired, worn and in sorrow. I took the first pills that night, and left my wife sitting sorrowfully comparing the flickering hopes of my life with the faint rays of light from my bedroom door, while I thought only of what the doctor had said. The forepart of the night I was restless as usual, but, do you believe, during the latter part of that very night I caught a nap, the first sweet and resting sleep I had enjoyed for months. I continued the medicine the next day, and the following night I slept, yes sir; slept a greater portion of the night.

"Oh, you can't imagine how brightly the sun shone on our home before that week was over, and how the faint rays of hope were fanned into a flame. But my father and many of my neighbors shook their heads and said: 'Simply something quieting about those pills; 'twill be back again, look out for the after effects.' But here are the after affects," said Mr. Underwood standing erect, the picture of health and weighing 165 pounds. "From the second day after getting the pills the change set in. I could sleep, my appetite came back, and before I had finished the third box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People I was able to do my chores, and before the fourth was finished I was doing my farm work. My cure was complete and permanent, and I have not seen a sick day since and you bet Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are as nuggets of gold at our house."

"Swear to the statements I have made? Why, certainly and with pleasure," said Mr. Underwood, when the reporter suggested that some people who were not acquainted with him might be skeptical, and he accompanied the reporter to a justice's office, where the following acknowledgment was taken:

STATE OF MICHIGAN, } ss.
COUNTY OF TUSCOLA. }

Personally appeared before me, H. M. Underwood, who, under oath, declared that the statements made in the above interview were true and correct in every respect.

Signed:

C. D. PETERSHANS, Notary Public,
in and for Tuscola County, Michigan.

Orson Livermore, who was present at the interview with Mr. Underwood, said: "Yes, neighbor Underwood's cure is considered a miracle by the people of this locality, and the story is told over and over again."

"Why," said Mr. Underwood, "if you have any doubts about the matter, just call on Samp. Wells, J. H. Weaver, Guy Wilson, Andrew Thompson, my father, T. K. Underwood, or any of the dozens of reliable farmers in this section; they know all about it."

During the conversation which followed after the interview, the reporter learned that Dr. Hendris, of Mayville, recommends Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in his practice, and that Mrs. Thomas Anderson, living but a few miles away, had received marvelous help from them; also that John Smith, Sr., living near Akron, this county, an old gentleman eighty-nine years of age, who had been a sufferer from bilious rheumatism for years, had been entirely cured by their use. But as night was approaching the reporter could not pursue his investigations further.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are prepared by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., of Schenectady, N. Y., a firm whose ability and reliability are unquestioned. Pink Pills are not looked upon as a patent medicine, but as a prescription, having been used as such for years in general practice, and their successful results in curing various afflictions made it imperative that they be prepared in quantities to meet the demand of the public, and place them in reach of all. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, and the tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration, all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of whatever nature.

Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose form by the dozen or hundred, and the public are cautioned against numerous imitations sold in this shape) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company.

We Should Like to Know'

Why the State, under the general prostration of business and consequent reduction in revenues, should expend two or three thousand dollars to hold a meeting of the Board of Agriculture, when a Farmers' Institute at which precisely the same questions are discussed by many of the same speakers. can be held under the direction of the Director of Institutes, for $25 or $30? A dollar saved is equal to two earned.

Hoe Out Your Row.

One summer's day a farmer's boy
Was hoeing out the corn,
And moodily had listened long
To hear the dinner-horn,
The welcome blast was heard at last.
And down he dropped his hoe,
But the good man shouted in his ear:
"My boy, hoe out your row,"

Although a hard one was the row,
To use a ploughman's phrase,
And the boy, as sailors have it,
Beginning now to "haze,"
"I can," he said, and manfully
Again he seized the hoe;
And the good man smiled to see
The boy hoe out his row.

The lad the text remembered,
And learned the lesson well,
That perseverence to the end
At last will nobly tell.
Take courage, man: resolve you can,
And strike a vig'rous blow;
In life's wide field of varied toil,
Always "hoe out your row,"

DEATH OF H. C. LOVE.

One of Tyrones Most Prominent Citizens Passes Away.

Harry Clay Love of Tyrone, a brother of our esteemed townsman Judge John G Love, died on Friday evening after an illness of several weeks. The Tyrone Herald pays the following tribute to the deceased:

H. C. Love, one of Tyrone's leading citizens, a prominent merchant, and president of the borough council, died at his home on Lincoln avenue, at 11.12 o'clock Friday night.

Mr. Love was a great sufferer from rheumatism and had previously sustained a very severe attack of this painful ailment. Two years ago he was confied to his bed for four weeks suffering severely, but his strong constitution at that time mastered the illness and he recovered his wonted health. Two weeks ago he was again seized with a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism, but though his illness was serious from the beginning, it did not become alarming until within the past few days, and indeed last evening the fatal summons did not seem so imminent, so that his death comes with a measure of suddenness that carries with it additional sadness.

Harry Clay Love, was the son of the late James Love who was for years prominent as a merchant of Loveville, Centre county. It was there that the subject of this sketch was born November 3, 1853, his age at death being consequently 42 years, 6 month and 26 days. He spent his early childhood and youth at the place of his birth, and received a comprehensive education at Dickinson Seminary at Williamsport from which he was graduated in 1871 In his college course he paid special attention to civil engineering branches, and was a skillful surveyor. Returning from Williamsport he entered his father's store, remaining there until the elder Mr. Love removed in November, 1881, to the Love homestead near Tyrone, on the Warriorsmark road, when he also came here. In the spring of 1883 he entered Tyrone mercantile life, and continuously since that time he had conducted the large hardware store in Pruner's block.

On June 6, 1883, at the home of the bride's brother, H. A. McKee, at Bellefonte, Mr. Love was united in marriage to Miss Mary McKee, the ceremony being performed by Rev. William Laurie D. D. Mr. Love had previously erected his residence on Lincoln avenue and resided there since his marriage. Surviving him are his wife and five children, Helen C., James McKee, Robert Adams, Susan Beck and Jane Gray. His loss if also mourned by two brothers and three sisters: Hon. John G. Love of Bellefonte; Winfield S. Love, of Carlisle; Misses Lydia J., Emma and Annie Love, of Tyrone. To the sorrowing ones the heartfelt condolence of a sympathizing community go out.

Deceased was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. In politics he was a sturdy Republican, and though never seeking preferment he was honored by his fellow citizens at different times by public office. In 1889 he was elected county surveyor for Blair county, continuing in this place, one of honor rather than of service, until 1894. In 1894 he was elected a member of Tyrone borough council for one year and in 1895 he was relected for the full term of two years. Last year his fellow councilmen honored him by choosing him their president, and again he was unanimously reelected to that position this year holding it at the time of his death. Mr. Love was a safe representative of the people, alike true to the public affair, as to his friends in private.

The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Horace Lincoln Jacobs at the late home of the deceased at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Interment Tyrone cemetery.

Statues to General Meade and Hancock.

Gov. Hastings and staff will visit Gettysburg on June 5th for the purpose of taking part in the unveiling of equestrian statues erected by the State in honor of Major Generals Meade and Hancock. Gen. Gobin, of Lebanon, will preside and formally transfer the statues to the Governor. Gen. Gregg, Commander of the 2nd Cavalry Div., on that fateful day and Gen. H. H. Bingham, who served on Gen. Hancock's staff, will deliver the orations. Master George Gordon Meade will unveil the statue erected to his grandfather.

Memorial Day in This City

Memorial Day was appropriately celebrated in this city on Saturday. Business was generally suspended during the afternoon and for several hours the streets were thronged with large crowds of people. Gregg Post No. 95, G. A. R., Company B, 5th Reg N. G. P., Sons of Veterans and Knights Golden Eagle Juniors participated in the parade. The music for marching was furnished by The Bellefonte Band and Samuel Fisher's Drum Corps.

Commander F. Peebles Greene was in charge and the parade moved under his direction. Besides the above named orders, Colonel W. F. Reeder, Mayor W. E. Gray and W. C. Heinle occupied a carriage in the front of the line.

The graves of the soldiers were decorated with flowers contributed by the public. The services at the cemetery were adjourned to the Tabernacle owing to the threatening rain. At the latter named place W. C. Heinle and Col. W. F. Reeder delivered memorial addresses which were listened to by a large crowd.

World's Fair Diploma.

The Mill Hall brick works on Thursday received the medal and diploma which had been awarded the company for the exhibit of brick and shale at the World's fair says the Lock Haven Democrat. The company had received notice of the award immediately after the exposition closed, but the diploma did not arrive until yesterday.

The medal is of a round composition, having the appearance of bronze, three inches in diameter. On the one side is a figure in relief of Columbus. On the other is the inscription, "World's Columbus Exposition in Commemoration of the Four Hundredth Anniversary of the Landing of Columbus, MDCCCXCII. To Mill Hall Brick Works." The medal is encased in a blue velvet pad, which pad is enclosed in a bright aluminum case.

The diploma is a beautiful engraving 18x24 inches impressed on parchment 25x35 inches in size. The engraving is worded as follows:

The United States of America, by Act of Their Congress have authorized the Worlds Columbia Commission at the international Exhibition held in the City of Chicago, State of Illinois, in the year 1883, to decree a medal for specific merit which is set forth below over the name of an individual judge acting as an examiner, upon the finding of a board of international judges, to Mill Hall Brick Works, Lock Haven, Pennsylvania, Exhibit, Shale and Shale Bricks. Award for extreme hardness, resistance and pressure, thorough mixing of the clay and good firing.

RUTH M. WINTERBOTHAN,
Individual Judge.

Then comes the names of the officers of the exposition.

Great Damage Done at Reading

Reading, May 28.—This city was visited by a tremendous rainfall this afternoon. Many cellars were flooded in various parts of the city, and the residents of Nicalls street were compelled to vacate the first floors of their homes. In less than ten minutes some of the streets in the northeastern section were converted into streams, the water filling them from curb to curb.

Eureka Chemical & Mfg., Co., La Crosse Wis.—Gentlemen: For forty years I used tobacco in all its forms. For twenty-five years of that time I was a great sufferer from general debility and heart disease. For fifteen years I tried to quit, but couldn't. I took various remedies, among others "No-To-Bac," "The Indian Tobacco Antidote," "Double Chloride of Gold," etc., etc., but none of them did me the least bit of good. Finally, however, I purchased a box of your "Baco-Curo" and it has entirely cured me of the habit in all its forms, and I have increased thirty pounds in weight and am relieved from all the numerous aches and pains of the body and mind. I could write a quire of paper upon my changed feelings and condition.

MEMORIAL DAY BICYCLE RACES

They Were Largely Attended and Intensely Interesting—The Result.

The Altoona Tribune says: The bicycle races at the driving park Saturday afternoon, promoted by B. J. Murphy, were a grand success. About 1,200 people were present, and many more would doubtless have attended had it not been for the threating weather. The rain which fell in the morning was dried up by noon, and, instead of being a disadvantage, was a positive benefit, since it rendered the track hard and firm. The crowd was good humored and enthusiastic, and was composed largely of ladies, beside the bicycle enthusiasts.

The Logan band was present, discoursing a programme of excellent music during the various events. The Lenox club was represented by a large delegation. The club flags and banner—purple and yellow—were displayed conspicuously and their golden lettering attracted considerable attention.

The first race was the one mile novice, with eleven entries. It resulted: Ben Bradley, of Bellefonte, first; C. G. Henry, Altoona, second; C. V. Reel, Johnstown, third; S. Reagan, Altoona, fourth. Time, 2:37¼.

There was also eleven entries for the one mile open race which followed. Sheffer, of Bellefonte, came in first; Fetterman, of Johnstown, second; Bradley of Bellefonte, third, and Schellhause, of Altoona, fourth. Time, 2:33¾.

In the half mile race for boys under 17 years, Weaver, of Bellefonte, won easily, with Reel, of Johnstown, second, and Fresh, of Altoona, third. Time, 1.18½.

The five-mile handicap concluded the races. The first five contestants, only one of whom started at the scratch. This was Fetterman, of Johnstown. Bradley and Henry, each with a start of 300 yards maintaining the advantage during the entire race, Bradley coming in first and Henry second. Sheffer, of Bellefonte, was third and Fetterman, of Johnstown, fourth. Fetterman, the only man who started at the scratch, had the sympathy of the crowd. There were many who thought he was too hopelessly handicapped at the start. He had never ridden in track events before, having made a reputation in a road race at Johnstown.

Henry, the winner of the one-mile handicap, with a dark horse. He rides easily and well and has a future before him. The Bellefonte delegation, as was expected, was composed of fast people, especially Bradley and Weaver. The visitors were all gentlemanly in demeanor, to which fact is largely due the success of the races.

WENT AWAY ALIVE.

Came Back in a Coffin Badly Mangled.

The Lock Haven Democrat says: John Burris an employe of the Mill Hall brick works, but residing down near the show grounds, left this city Saturday morning with Robinson & Franklins Bro. show for Milton. In the afternoon about 4 o'clock he attempted to jump on a fast freight with the intention of coming home. He, however missed his hold, was thrown under the train and the wheels passing over his legs, nearly severed the one at the thigh and mangled the other below the knee. He lived long enough to tell those who came to his assistance what his name was and where he resided. After he expired his remains were taken to an undertaker in Milton, where they were prepared for interment. Deceased was about 38 years old and is survived by a wife and three children.

General ✻ Debility.

That complete collapse of the entire system, when the organs improperly perform their functions, and as a natural result a cessation of nourishment to the body ensues, a continual loss of flesh is experienced, and death from starvation is the end. This trouble is in every instance averted by the use of that greatest concentrated food product

Bovinine

Retained by the weakest stomach, readily assimilated, new flesh and nerve tissue is created, the blood is enriched, the vital organs resume their natural functions and a return to health is the result. In this connection, Dr. M. W. Van Denburg of Fort Edward, N. Y., says, "I have used Bovinine in cases of extreme debility where no other food would be tolerated and with very satisfactory results." Physicians everywhere tell the same story.

A Fatal Wind Storm.

Lancaster, Pa., May 28.—A tornado that came from York county shore swept across the Susquehanna river this afternoon shortly after 1 o'clock, and did a vast amount of damage in Columbia, 10 miles from here. together with several fatalities.

It first struck the plaining mill of John Forrey, unroofing the structure and doing a great deal of damage to the houses in the vicinity. The black cloud then struck the Columbia rolling mill lifted the roof and buried fifteen men in the ruins. Following are the casualties:

Percy Zerger, head cut, fatally injured; Isaac Haverstick, puddler, leg and head crushed and body scalded, and died shortly after; Walter Brenner, cuts on head, arm broken and bruised about the body; Harry Duck, puddler struck by timbers and badly cut on body. Joseph Dangert, driving a cart, was buried by the roof and seriously hurt internally.

The roiling mill is completely domolished and the machinery ruined.

Albert Hill colored, and four other employes, names not known, who were working inside the mill were blown forty feet into Shawnee creek and nearly drowned.

The storm next struck the electric station and badly injured the building. John Hughes, the engineer was instantly killed in trying to close the window. He was blown into the fly wheel of the machine and torn into fragments.

The damage to the property of the Columbia rolling mill is estimated at $20,000. Twelve puddling furnaces were totally destroyed.

At Wrightsville the gable end of the Lutheran church was blown in, the school house unroofed and a large amount of lumber in the lumber yard of Billmer & Small was blown into the river. After leaving Columbia the storm traveled eas doing considerable damage about Mountville and Roherstown by blowing down tobacco sheds and uprooting trees.

The 100 Anniversary of Dr. Jenner's Discovery Celebrated.

Lancaster, May 22.—The centennial celebration of Dr. Edward Jenner's discovery of vaccine virus, took place to-day at Dr. H. M. Alexander's vaccine farm, at Marietta, the greatest establishment of the kind in the w rld. The members of the state Medical society attended. Medical men from the states of New York Maryland and Ohio were also present.

At the farm the guests were welcomed by Col. D B. Case, of Marietta. Then followed an inspection of the great establishment, dinner being served afterward. This was presided over as toastmaster, by W. T. Bishop, of Harrisburg, toasts being responded to by Dr. W. M. Welsh, and Dr. E. W. Helms of Philadelphia; Dr. M. L. Richard, New York; Professor E. O. Lyte, principal of the Millersville State Normal School; Dr. Rahter, Harrisburg, and Dr. H. M. Alexander, literary and musical exercises followed.

Rough at Bristol.

Baistol, Pa., May 27.—A severe wind storm passed over Fall township, this county, about 4 o'clock this afternoon. The Pennsylvania railroad station at the place was blown across the track just before an express train from New York was due but the train was stopped in time to avert an accident. Many barns were wrecked and orchards and crops suffered severely. A number of cattle were killed but no fatalities among human beings are reported.

Norristown Felt the Shock.

Norristown, Pa., May 28.—A heavy wind storm about 3.30 o'clock this afternoon did considerable damage here. Hail and rain accompanied the wind. Fram buildings were overturned and trees uprooted. Reports from the surrounding country indicate that much damage to farm lands was done. Two men are reported killed at Jarrettown and the tin works at Ernest, two miles from here were struck by lightning and two workmen rendered unconscious for several hours.

Meeting of Centre County Pomona Grange.

STATE COLLEGE, MAY 26.

The morning opened bright and beautiful. A slight rain during the preceeding night layed the dust and rendered the traveling delightful. The Committee of Washington Grange arranged for the accomodation of horses, and as fast as the conveyances arrived they were driven to adjoining farms where they were properly cared for and raturned to the Hall at the close of the meeting. The arrangemennts were entirely satisfactory. By the hour for opening a respectable number were in attendance. In an around the Hall were groups of Patrons, brothers and sisters, in fraternal greetings. A few minutes after 10 o'clock a. m., Worthy Master Geo. Dale called to order. The Grange was opened in due form. The roll call disclosed the fact that the officers were not all present, but their places were promptly filled until their arrival a little later. The Master appointed the usual Committee on Credentials.

The PicnicCommittee reported they had organized for 1896 and would in the near future commence arranging for the annual entertainment. Several improvements which would tend to the comfort and convenience of visitors and tenters would be made. That arrangement had already been secured with the railroad officials for single fare for the round trip. That the accomodations would be better than heretofore, and all that was needed to render the meeting a grand success was a general interest on the part of Patrons and friends. Recess 'till 1.30 p, m.

The delightful grove immediately adjoining the Hall, afforded a splendid resort, and in a few minutes cloths were spread upon the green turf and nature's auditorium was transformed into a basket picnic dining room. It was delightful. Families and neighbors grouped here and there discussing the merits of well prepared baskets while mirth and fraternity prevailed generally.

Dinner over, the gavel of the Master called to order promptly on time. Resolutions and reports were still in order. The following preamble and resolutions were read, and a motion for their adoption moved and sustained:

WHEREAS, the Grange through its Legislative efforts secured the increased school appropriation of $5,500.000 for the purpose of reducing local taxation as stated in the preamble of the bill, we as an organization have not only the right, but it is our bounden duty to protest against the misappropriation of the school fund in the payment of increased salaries and the purchase of worthless charts and maps foisted upon the school boards by swindling agents, therefore,

Resolved, That the County Grange appoint a committee of three to inquire into the expenditure of the school fund and also inquire what legislation may be necessary to secure a more equitable distribution of the State appropriation.

Resolved, That we favor such a change in the distribution of the State appropriation so as to distribute it on the ratio of one-third according to the number of taxables, one third according to the number of schools and the remaining third according to the number of pupils.

Resolved, That we favor a division of the school term so as to make a winter term of five months and a summer term of two months, empowering the school boards to unite school districts for the summer term, where there are less than fifteen pupils to any one school so that the State appropriation and the tax levied in pursuance of laws may be economically expended and the children secure larger educational advantages.

Resolved, That we favor the abolition of township and borough lines in the attendance of schools so that each child in the Commonwealth may have the privilege of attending the school most convenient to their residence without any exaction of additional tuition from either the pupil, township or borough, so that our school priveleges may be reciprocal.

The proposition was discussed by the Lecturer, Worthy Master Rhone, and Bros. McCormick and Armsby. After a number of questions were asked and answered the question of their adoption being called, they were adopted by a practically unanimous vote.

The following resolutions unanimously adopted by Progress Grange, No. 96, Centre Hall, were officially presented by the Worthy Master of Progress Grange for the consideration of the County Grange:

1st. Resolved, That we respectfully ask the County Grange to appoint a suitable committee or committees to interigate the candidates for Legislature of the respective political parties as to whether they will agree, if elected, to support the Tax Conference Revenue Bill and sustain the Pure Food and Anti-Oleomargarine laws, and other laws appertaining to the Department of Agriculture and the interests of Agriculture in general.

2nd. Resolved, That we also interogate the candidates for Congress as to whether they will agree, if elected, to support the Pure Food and anti-option bills and other legislation to equitably protect Agriculture with the manufacturers and the setting aside of a part of the Import duties paid by farmers for an export bounty on the staples of Agriculture which are exported, and the price of which, in foreign markets, determine the prices in the home market.

Little discussion was had on the resolutions. They seemed to meet with a general, affirmative response, and were unanimously adopted. The committee will be announced in due time.

The Publishing Committee reported they were able to say that so far the receipts had more than met current expenses of the PATRON and the outlook was encouraging. Fifteen hundred copies were printed monthly, more than twelve hundred of which went into homes inside the County, while the remainder circulates in different sections of the State. Patrons were urged to support the PATRON.

Sister Florence Rhone recited in very creditable style a selection entitled "The Farmer feeds you all," which was well received.

The Worthy Master invited Prof. Hayward to favor the Grange with a song. In approachiug the organ he said he would give a selection that he used to sing when at home on his fathers farm in New York, and which had never ceased to thrill his heart, entitled, "The Old Oaken Bucket." It was finely rendered and the audience enjoyed it much.

A discussion followed on the "Revenue Bill," prepared by the Tax Commission. Bro. Rhone who is a member of the Commission and took a deep interest in the preparation of the bill, opened by giving a hasty outline of the principles or basis of the proposed measure and showed the gross injustice of our present system and the benefits that would accrue if the bill should become a law. He was followed by the Lecturer of the County Grange, Prof. Armsby, and others, largely in the way of questions and answers relating to the bill.

The Committee on Women's Work reported verbally, in brief, that they expected to enter the field and do effective work during 1896; that they proposed to decorate the auditorium on Grange Park, so as to render it the most pleasing and interesting auditorium to be found anywhere; and render such other service as they may find to do, to further the interest of the order and the elevation of our class.

Washington Grange had provided an excellent choir for the occasion and the music rendered was much appreciated. A vote of thanks was extended the choir and Prof. Hayward for the service rendered. A short recess, after which the 5th degree was conferred in full form. It was determined to hold the next meeting in the Hall of Bald Eagle Grange, Milesburg. Closed in due form.—The Patron.

SUICIDE AT ROCK SPRINGS.

Arthur O. Goheen, of Tyrone, Shoots Himself—Probably Fatal.

Arthur O. Goheen, of Tyrone, who has been spending several months past at the home of his father, J. J. Goheen, at Rock Springs, Centre county, in the hope of recovering from the effects of recent serious illness, attempted suicide shortly after the noon hour on Thursday, by shooting himself. A telephone message to his brothers, J. C. and J. M. Goheen, of Tyrone, soon after the sad event occurred, stated that the unfortunate young man was still living and conscious and that he desired to see them. The message also stated that the shot would in every likelihood prove fatal.

Arthur Goheen was a strong and healthy young man until last fall, when he had a severe and lingering attack of pneumonia which left him with health shattered. Recovery was progressing very slowly, and it was with the hope of more speedy return to health that he went, with his wife and babe, to the old homestead at Rock Springs some time ago. His continued ill health had caused him to become despondent and it was undoubtedly his despondency over this that led him to the act which will probably prove fatal. —Tyrone Herald.

Clothed the Cows

A few days ago the residents of the southern portion of the county had their attention directed to a herd of thirty-five cows which were being driven out Mission road to San Mateo county. On each of the animals was a covering consisting of four ordinary barley sacs sewed together. The blankets were fastened by cords to the legs of the cows and tied about the neck.

The cows belonged to Koostri Brothers of the Holstein Dairy, near the five mile house. They were being driven to a ranch in San Mateo county about five miles south of Colma near the ocean shore. George Koostri, one of the owners of the cows, said the idea was common in the cold countries of northern Europe.

"The ranch we own is in San Mateo county," he said, "is situated very close to the ocean. The climate is cold. The breezes which blow from the ocean are very penetrating. Our cows would have been chilled and we would be unable to allow them to pasture if we did not provide them with some covering to resist the coldi In some of the European countries the cows are blanketed in winter months and kept in a large enclosure. They are not allowed out, but are fed in a stable. This lasts in some places from the 1 of November to the 1 of May. We have thirty-five cows out ion the ranch. Every one wears a blanket, which will not be removed until they return to the city about three months from now. The The climate here is much warmer in comparison to what it is along the sea shore in San Mateo. The people who watched us driving the herd to the ranch thought that the cows were sick. They were very healthy, I can assure you."

AWFUL DISCOVERY.

The Body of a 7 year old child chopped and Mutilated.

LANCASTER, Pa., June 1.—The body of a child 7 years old, chopped and mutilated in a most horrid manner was discovered at Colebrook. There is not the least doubt but that thetchild was murdered and then fiendishly dismembered to prevent identification.

Colebrook is very near the boundary between Lancaster and Lebanon counties. Sunday school children yesterday strayed away from their direct road and, taking a path in the mountains made the shocking discovery.

They summoned the nearest neighbor who after removing the body to a safe place, notified the Lebanon county authorities. They made diligent search for the relatives of the child, but thus far they have not found the slightest clue.

The arms and legs of the little one had been chopped off. The remainder of the body was wrapped in material such as is used by furniture dealers in packing goods. The body was badly decomposed and the supposition is that it was secreted at least two months ago.

Cause of the Action.

Washington, May 21.—The action of the American Consul is based on the tariff of August, 1894, which including a prohibition was authorized to be suspended in cases of countries known to be free from contagious cattle diseases. It is not generally known that since last November when a proclamation was issued by President Cleveland, suspending the prohibition int he cases of Norway, Sweden, Holland, Great Britain, Ireland, the channel island and the countries of the North, Central and South America, no cattle have been allowed entry from any of the countries not then designed.

A Pretty Story of Hon. Wm. McKinley and Wife.

A dispatch from Cleveland to the New York Tribune says: Nothing more romantic and beautiful in the matter of courtship has ever been published than the courtship of William McKinley with the noble woman who is now his wife. In the town where they resided she was a teacher of a large Bible-class in the First Presbyterian church, and he the Superintendent of the Sunday School of the First Methodist Episcopal Church. In going to their respective schools they passed each other at a certain corner, and found it pleasant to stop occasionally and indulge in conversation concerning their work. This went on for many months, until on an ever memorable Sunday afternoon in their history he said to her:

"I don't like this separation every Sunday, you going one way and I another. Let us change the order. Suppose after this we always go the same way. I think that is the thing for us to do. What do you think?"

"I think so, too," was the answer, which gave to him one of the most beautiful of wives and to her one of the noblest and most devoted of husbands. Mrs. McKinley was a daughter of Wm. Saxton, a former resident of Huntingdon.

Record of Central Pennsylvania.

The work of compiling a biographical record of Central Pennsylvania was commenced in this city by Mr. C. G. Gibbons some weeks since. After having opened the work in all the counties to be included in the same, Mr. Gibbons has returned to Centre County where he will remain until the required data in this locality is secured. He will be assisted by the regular staff of writers in the employment of J. M. Beers and Co., who are to be the publishers of the books. Every township in the County will be visited—family records will be searched biographies of leading men of to-day, pioneer characters will be written.

Pleasing the Englishmen and others

How much brighter and more gay the English who have eaten "biftecks" in Paris will be for the knowledge that since 1866 they have contributed towards the consumption of 389,975 horses, 10,543 donkeys and 946 mules. The consumption of these luxuries has grown steadily but surely, and it seems that they now figure in the production of sausages, which will surprise no one, and also in salad oils, which will surprise many.—Galignani Messenger

ACCUSED OF LARCENY.

Just Because a Poor Girl is Seen Wearing a Gold Ring She is Charged With Stealing It.

Pretty nineteen-year-old Olie Weaver of Pleasant Gap was arraigned before 'Squire Reichline on Monday evening charged with the larceny of a gold ring with an Emerald setting of the value of five dollars, and a gold band ring valued at four dollars, the property of Mrs. Grau Fitzpatrick. The defendant was bound over for court in the sum of $300 bail.

According to the testimony of the prosecution the theft was committed on April 20th. Olie Weaver, the defendant, was suspicioned and a search warrant made out and her home searched, but the rings could not be found. A warrant for her arrest was sworn out and on Mondey evening she was brought up for a hearing.

The prosecution produced a number of witnesses, who all gave out a lot of testimony, but not one could swear that they had seen the defendant steal the rings. The evidence all through, on the part of the prosecution, was purely circumstantial.

The young defendant was allowed to make a statement, and told a straightforward story, denying that she had stolen the rings

The only point that the prosecution advanced to prove that the defendant was guilty, was because she had been seen wearing a ring, and just because the girl was poor they claimed she had stolen it.

Applies to Bellefonte Also.

The Philipsbug Journal rightly says: Many complaints have been made during the past few years that floral pieces and plants have been stolen from graves, and that it has been impossible to keep tributes to the dead in the Philipsburg cemetries on account of thieves and vandals. No human being with a spark of decency or humanity, with a conscious; respect for themselves or honor for the dead, would rob a grave of the tributes of affection left by mourners. It ought not to be that in a civilized community a person could be found guilty of such low lived and so unutterably mean a theff as stealing from a grave; but there are and the cemetery authorities owe to their own good names, and that of the burial place, that a watch be kept on the cemeteries to see that vandals are kept out, or if caught in their vile deeds, to receive the full punishment of the law. If a reward were offered for the apprehension of violators and decorators of the grave yards, there might be hopes of catching the villians who disgrace the community.

To Be a Missionary.

Evan Goodfellow of this city departed Monday for Philadelphia, from which place he will start in a few days for Santo Carlo, Central America. He goes there under the direction of the Philadelphia Bible Institute and will do missionary work in that territory. Evan has been studying for this kind of work for some time and is now fitted to take charge of the field. He is a young man of energy and ambition and is certainly deserving of great credit for his work for Christ. We sincerely hope his labors will accomplish much good.

Met With an Accident.

While working at the wash ore banks on Monday Call Gehret fell over an ore dump down a distance of fifteen feet onto the rocks below.

When picked up the unfortunate man was pretty badly bruised but fortunately no bones were broken. His left arm was painfully scratched and his back sprained. How he escaped being killed is a mystery as his fall was unchecked and he struck the ground with awful force.

A hungarian fell over a similar dump about a year ago only he was higher up when he fell.

At latest reports Gehret was resting as well as could be expected.

$250 Reward.

A reward of $250 is offered for the arrest and conviction of the incendiary who started the fire which recently destroyed property to the extent of $50,000 in Lewistown. The fellow is described as follows: Weight 175 pounds; heighth 5 feet 7 inches wore a blue sack coat, brown slouch hat, light pants and dark necktie. Left eye blackened and blood shot.

PENNS VALLEY.

A Breezy Letter from our Hustling correspondent in that Neighborhood.

The Milheim telephone Co. placed "phones" in several places between Millheim and Spring Mills.

I noticed Colonel Spangler, W.F.Smith and Wm. Runkle down the valley on Saturday last. They evidently had some political scheme on hand and it must have worked satisfactory, for they were in a jolly, good humor.

C. W. Hoffer of Philipsburg was down this way on Saturday last. Mr. H. represents the Independant Oil Co. of Warren Pa.

Several candidates were down the valley last week. and appeared to be well pleased with their prospects. All democrats among them were A. C. Thompson of Half Moon township, for the nomination for assembly, J. C. Carson, of Spring, for the nomination for sheriff, Heckman, of Benner for the nomination for recorder, and Prof. Meyer of Harris for the nomination for commissioner. They all say their rails and fences are still unbroken and prospects bright.

The hay crop in the valley will be a total failure.

The junior clubs of Spring Mills and Rebersburg had a base ball contest on Saturday last. The Spring Mills lads were left. The score stood 8 to 10 in favor of Rebersburg.

Immense quantities of bark went through the valley during the last month. I was informed that the shipments from Spring Mills and Coburn were unusually heavy.

Decoration day passed off with the usual appropriate ceremonies at Millheim Coburn and all through the valley. Quite a number of farmers had the national colors displayed from their windows and in town there was a wonderful profusion of flags.

Edward Rhule of the Centre Hall hotel (late from the Old Fort Inn) informed me that he has been doing excellent business in his new place. Mr. R is a capital landlord and knows exactly how to entertain his guests, and of course they feel at home.

The other day I met Charles Miller the well known and reliable wool dealer of Spring Mills, who informed me that the wool market East was decidedly off, no settled figures for wool. All the changes for the last two months have been towards a lower tendency, but still he hardly thought wool could hardly be lower than it is at present; and if there was any change now it would be for an advance, of course headed smilingly, "Wonderful things are very uncertain."

Memorial Day at Pine Grove.

Memorial day at Pine Grove Mills was well observed by the people of that place and vacinity. In the forenoon the members of the G. A. R. and several others visited the cemetery at Meek's church where the graves of the deceased soldiers were decorated and where Rev. Guyer delivered an appropriate address. The ceremonies at Pine Grove Mills were held at 3.30 o'clock in the afternoon. The parade was promptly formed headed by the drum corps and the members of the Post. Several patriotic orders took part in the parade, arriving at the cemetery the services were conducted according to the ritual of the G. A. R. organization. The graves were then decorated after which an address was delivered by Clem. Dale Esq. of Bellefonte. Mr. Dale's address showed that he had given thought and care in its preparing. It was listened to by a large and appreciative audience. The day was fine and the attendance at Pine Grove Mills was the largest that has been known for years.

Huntingdon Presbytery.

The Presbytery of Huntingdon roots up for the year closing with April 1st, as follows. 62 ministers, 76 churches, 306 elders, 95 deacons; added on examinations 778, on certificates 326, total membership 11,308; adults baptized 207, infants 349; Sabbath school membership 11,102; contributed to home missions $4,980, foreign missions $7,524, education $701, Sabbath school work $1,031, church erection $1,604, relief fund $950, freedmen $840, Presbyterian missions $1,059, aid for colleges $465, anniversary reunion fund $4,348, general assembly assessment $1,007, American Bible society $40, congregational purposes $85,242, miscellaneous objects $2,374. Richard F. Wilson, stated clerk.

Reward of Genius

Mr. A. P. Lucus of Mount Eagle has invented an improved fence picket and fastener and a patent for the same is now pending. The picket is of steel and is much stronger and stiffer than the ordinary picket fence. This week Mr. Lucas received from the Wederburn agency at Washington a prize medal denoting that his invention was one that deserved more than passing notice. The medal is a handsome one and is made of fine sterling silver and bears the inscription "Reward of Genius." We congratulate Mr. Lucus upon his invention and predict for it a profitable life.

APPROPRIATE SERVICES.

Milesburg Post 261 Appropriately Observes Memorial Day.

The following is a program of the memorial services as conducted by the Dr. George L. Potter Post No. 261 of Milesburg on Saturday May 30th:

At 9 o'clock a. m., memorial service were held at Fairview cemetery by a delegation with comrade William Emenhizer in charge. Clarence Daly, a son of Veteran John A. Daly of Curtin township, delivered and address. Appropriate music was furnished by the ladies in attendance.

From Fairview they then went to Advent cemetery where they met the Post in a body about 80 strong from Milesburg. The services at Advent commenced at ten o'clock. Addresses were made by Rev. Ebersole of Sterling Run, Cambria county, and Rev. F. S. Grady of Trenton, N. J. The music was furnished by the Milesburg Band and the Wallace Run choir, the latter being in charge of Elias Hancock. It was the largest gathering of this kind ever known in that locality there being fully 800 persons in attendance.

At this same hour, memorial services were held in the new cemetery near Milesburg by the ladies. Past Commander J. Miles Green was in charge and delivered a well prepared address.

The return to the Post room at Milesburg was then made. Upon their arrival they found an excellent dinner prepared for them by the Relief Corp and the ladies of Milesburg.

After an hour pleasantly spent in discussing the many good things to eat the Post started for Eagle Cemetery at Curtin. The line of conveyances was in charge of Chief Marshall A. S. Smith, assisted by P. C. Joseph A. Green. The address at Eagle cemetery was made by Rev. George Zehner of Bellefonte and the music furnished by the Curtin Band.

Upon the conclusion of the services at Curtin the return to the Post Room was made. Chief Marshall Smith again got the Veterans in line and marched to the M. E. church. Before arriving there they were joined by the O. U. A. M. and the I. O. O. F. and countermarching at the M E. church were joined by over 200 M. E. school children. The Presbyterian and Baptist Sunday schools joined in swelling the number in the parade to fully 1000.

When all the different organizations had been properly placed, commander Watson stepped forward in his usually dignified soldierly manner and delivered his address for the occasion. He was followed by prayer by chaplain Wilson and the readers Comrade Else, Adjutant Rager and P. C. P. H. Haupt. The principal address was made by A. A. Dale, Esq., of Bellefonte, who acquitted himself in a manner that has not been equalled in Milesburg at any time heretofore. An address was also delivered by Clarence Daly. This was followed by a poem by Comrade Else entitled "Our Fallen Heroes." The music was furnished by a choir in charge of Mr. L. T. Eddy. The pieces were well selected and appropriate and the singing was unusually fine. The Milesburg Band also rendered several very pretty selections.

Receipt for Rheumatism

The following receipt has been found specially effective in stubborn cases of rheumatism: One new egg well beaten, half pint of vinegar, an ounce of spirits of turpentine, half an ounce of camphor. These ingredients must first be beaten together thoroughly, then put in a bottle and shaken for ten minutes, after which it should be corked tightly and kept out of the air. In half an hour it will be ready for use. It should be applied three or four times a day, and for rheumatism in the head it should be rubbed on the back of the neck and behind the ears. It will keep for an indefinite time, and, in fact, is rather improved by age.—New York Mercury.

Death of a Little child.

The little two and a half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Friar died on Sunday evening after an illness dating back several months. The funeral was held on Thursday morning at ten o'clock from the residence of Mrs. Uhl who lives on the Jacksonville road East of town. Interment will be made in the Union cemetery.

Only Six

There are at present confined in the Centre County jail six prisoners—all males. This is the smallest number since Sheriff J. P. Condo has been in charge. The largest number during his term of office was thirty-two. As criminal court was only held a month ago this speaks well for Centre County.

WHO SAYS SO?

Everybody who has used them and some of them are Bellefonte People.

Who told you so? Neighbor so and so. Oh, well, that's all right. Testimony differs doesn't it? The more some people say the less faith we have. But the right man's word is taken at once. That's the difference. Particularly in maters of health. We tell you Doan's Kidney Pills cure, but we are the makers of them, Bellefonte people say so and we give you their addresses. Perhaps you may know them. Active lives bring on kidney troubles. An example of this is:

Mrs. P. F. Keichline, the wife of the well know insurance agent of Water street. She says:—"My husband obtained a box of Doan's Kidney Pills for me at F. Potts Green's drug store. We thought if they were up to representation they would just suit my case. I have suffered with my kidneys for a long time. They are responsible for all my backache and other annoying and distressing complications. I had a very severe attack of La Grippe and it left me in rather poor health. My back commenced to ache after that and I am inclined to think that my kidneys were awakened. I found Doan's Kidney Pills very beneficial. I can endorse all the claims made for them.

The Salt Lick Gas and Oil Company Decided to Sink Another Well.

The Lock Haven Express says: A meeting of the Salt Lick Gas and Oil Company was held at Karthaus on Thursday last, and officers for the ensuing year elected. It was decided at the meeting to put down another test well for oil near the place where the last hole was drilled. The indications of oil were so good at the last drilling that work on the new well will be pushed vigorously.

The election of directors and officers resulted as follows: [illegible] McCloskey, Pottersdale; J. H. [illegible]tes, Dr. M. Stewart, Isaac Midlam, Pine Glen; Hon. J. W. Smith, Geo. R. McCrea, Lock Haven; John Q. Miles, Bellefonte; Hon. J. H. Holt, M. D. Kelly, Snow Shoe; J. A. Heckendorn, J. S. Schnars, L. M. Impson, J. E. Evans, Karthaus, were elected directors, and Hon. J. H. Holt was elected president, John Q. Miles vice president, and J. A. Heckendorn secretary and treasurer.

The King of Wild Pigs.

Grizzly Bend was the name borne for many years by that portion of the county lying along the Sacramento river southeasterly from Chico and embracing the Parret ranch and other lands in that vicinity. Of course it is long years since the grizzly held possession there, as, like the Indian, he was forced to give way before the pioneer settlers of that vicinity.

A place, however, so well calculated for the home of the grizzly could not long be without its representative, even if it had to be an animal somewhat less wild and more domestic in its habits. Hogs turned loose in the swamps and morasses soon became so wild that it was dangerous for a person to be caught unaware by one of the patriarchs of the herds that infested the district.

So large and vicious had one of those fellows become that he was known and feared by all the residents in that vicinity, and for his wild nature and ferocious conduct generally had become known as 'Old Grizzly,' who, it was claimed, was bullet proof and couldn't be slain. Recently he he fell a victim to a party of hunters who sought him with the avowed purpose of effecting his extermination.

The bear was an immense fellow and weighed 550 pounds. His tusks were long one of them being partly broken off.

The hide was over an inch thick, and the shields on the shoulders were 2½ inches thick. He had never been injured by dogs or gun before.—Oroville (Cal.) Mercury.
